TO PRODUCE MORE HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Increased production of cast iron skillets, kettles, Dutch ovens and flat irons for household, institution, commercial and other uses is permitted under a recent revision of WPB order L-30-c.

30 DAYS' NOTICE ON STAMP 18

The public will be given 30 days' notice, should it become necessary to terminate Shoe Ration Stamp 18. This announcement was made recently by OPA to "kill" scare-buying rumors that the validity period of Stamp 18 might be cancelled with only 24 hours' notice to consumers.

JELLIES RATIONED

Jams, jellies, preserves and fruit spreads (except citrus marmalades) have joined the list of rationed foods and, after having been "frozen" for a week, now may be obtained with Blue Stamps X, Y and Z in Book 2, or with Green Stamps A, B and C in Book 4. Point values, effective November 1, have been announced as follows: Jams and preserves, 6 points a pound; fruit butters and jellies, 4 points per pound.

TO COLLECT OLD CLOTHING, RAGS

A nation-wide collection campaign for discarded clothing, used fabrics, and rags is being planned to meet heavy industrial and military requirements for wiping cloths, emphasizing that they do not want clothes that the owner will wear again or can use. The discarded clothing also will be used for local relief and rehabilitation purposes abroad. Materials collected will be separated and classified for best possible use. It is expected that the collection program will be handled by individual states and communities.

SOLDIERS' ALLOWANCE PAYMENTS

Soldiers' dependents must fill out and return a new, one-sheet dependency certificate to benefit by new rates provided by recent servicemen's allowance legislation, the War Department announced. All dependents now receiving family allowances are being sent copies of the new form. These should be filled out, witnessed, and returned to the Office of Dependency Benefits as soon as practicable to avoid possible discontinuance of allowances. Until new accounts can be set up, dependents now receiving family allowances will continue to receive their checks in the old amounts. After an account is converted, any sums accrued as a result of an increase in allowances will be included in the first check. The conversion from old to new accounts will take several months.

Voices Needed in Volunteer Choir

Auxiliary Observes Prayer Week

The Ladies Auxiliary has been holding a most successful week of prayer with meetings at 2:30 p. m. The closing session will be Friday afternoon, November 5. Each Sunday morning at the 11:00 o'clock service, music is rendered by a volunteer choir. Men stationed at Camp Pendleton augment the volunteers from the congregation and at present there is a choir of approximately forty voices.

Women are needed for this choir work and visitors and residents of Virginia Beach who are willing to render this service will be welcomed. Anyone wishing to join the choir is requested to contact Mr. Bloodworth, pastor. A social hour is enjoyed each week at the close of choir practice.

The Princess Anne Garden club will hold its November meeting on Monday, November 8, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ralph Penninger, Bird Neck Park, Virginia Beach, with Mrs. C. T. Hull as hostess. The president, Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, will preside.

VIRGINIA RELIGIOUS LEADERS ENDORSE NATIONAL WAR FUND

Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr., Honorary President of the Virginia War Fund, and the Bishops and religious leaders of the most numerous religious denominations in Virginia at a conference in Richmond recently pledged support of the National War Fund effort in Virginia. Every church in Virginia will be asked to cooperate by informing its members of the need.

The War Fund includes USO and sixteen other agencies organized to aid the war effort, relieve suffering by Allied civilians and the destitute people of occupied countries.

WEATHER BUREAU TO GIVE PRE-WAR TYPE INFORMATION

Under present conditions so little information might be gained by the enemy from weather reports that the Weather Bureau in Washington has announced that restrictions would be relaxed and that weather forecasts of the same type as issued before the war will be published in newspapers and radio broadcasts.

Since December, 1941, weather restrictions have been very severe. October 11, these restrictions were modified to some extent. Now military authorities have agreed upon complete relaxation of restrictions and a return to pre-war issuing of weather data.

Quota for Week-Day Religious Educational Work Not Reached

Appreciation Expressed for Generous Donations

Princess Anne county has been sponsoring a campaign to raise funds for the promotion of Week-Day Religious Education. To date the total amount of funds on hand is $1,171.00.

Mrs. Willard Ashburn, chairman for the drive in the county, wishes to express the appreciation of the committee in charge for the generous contributions made by interested friends. The drive for funds has not closed as the quota has not been reached. Due to the increased enrollment in public schools it was necessary to employ the services of an additional teacher, thereby raising the budget over the figures of last year.

Anyone wishing to contribute may do so at any time. Below is a list of contributors to date. Lack of space prevents publication of the entire list at this time but subsequent editions will give the list in full.

Murden Nominated London Bridge Postmaster

More Than 29 Years of Service at London Bridge

Post Office Grown from 4th Class to 3rd

J. B. Murden who will have served as postmaster at London Bridge for 30 years next March, has been nominated by President Roosevelt for re-appointment and his nomination sent to the Senate for confirmation.

From the point of view of service, Mr. Murden is the oldest postmaster in Princess Anne county. Up until July 1, 1943, the London Bridge postoffice was 4th class. At that time it was made 3rd class, which speaks the successful operation under the postmasterhood of Mr. Murden.

PLEDGES VIRGINIA—Homer L. Ferguson, of Newport News, President of the Virginia War Fund, Inc., signs agreement with National War Fund pledging Virginia to raise $1,900,000 for USO and 16 other national philanthropies, while Governor Darden, Honorary Fund President, looks on. Mr. Ferguson is urging that the National War Fund and Community Chest drives be united in Virginia cities. County chairmen have been appointed throughout Virginia and each county and city in the State has been assigned a quota. Every wage earner is asked to give a day's pay. In the Fund are agencies aiding the destitute in the Balkans, France, England and China.

Voting Light in Princess Anne County

Republicans Poll Major Victories in Eastern Seaboard

Democrats Win Local Contests in Virginia

Politicians have eagerly awaited returns from the elections of November 2nd in an attempt to read the handwriting on the wall as to bigger things to come in '44. The voting in Princess Anne county was light as the major combat was waged in Virginia as a whole voted Democrat. Major victories were won by Republicans in the Eastern Seaboard which, according to leaders, points to the defeat of the New Deal in next year's elections.

The unofficial and incomplete count shows the highest vote cast for William F. Hudgins, county clerk for eight years. Sidney S. Kellam was second and Russell Hatchett, town clerk and treasurer, who defeated John Sparrow for the party nomination for commissioner of the revenue in the August primary, was third.

All members of the board of supervisors were returned to their posts without opposition. With three precincts unheard from the incomplete count stands as follows:

Pendleton Worker Fatally Injured

Former Danville Resident Struck by Bus

Apparently the new "lights on" regulation came into effect too late at the Beach in as much as William Fletcher Hughes, 55, was injured fatally about 4:00 a. m. Monday when a bus ran over his prostrate form at 19th Street and Atlantic Ave.

The driver of the bus, Edward Whitaker, told Virginia Beach police he did not see the man's body lying in the street until it was too late to avoid running over him. Witnesses on the bus, owned by the Princess Anne Workmen's Club, bringing a load of workmen from the Navy Yard to their homes at the time of the mishap, corroborated Whitaker's statements.

Dr. H. F. Dornire, Princess Anne county coronor, said Hughes died about 5:55 a. m. in St. Vincent's Hospital as a result of internal hemorrhages, abdominal injuries, a fractured leg and severe shock. There was nothing to indicate that the man had been injured in any manner prior to being struck by the bus.

R. E. Johnson, identification officer for the Beach police, said a charge of reckless driving was placed against Whitaker immediately after the accident and later was changed to a technical charge of homicide by Commonwealth's Attorney, Paul W. Ackiss, Jr. $1000 bond was posted until trial in Princess Anne County Court.

Hughes lived at a rooming house near Atlantic avenue and Twenty-eighth street since last March, and he employed at the Camp Pendleton post exchange. His only known relatives, a sister in Ruffin, N. C., and a niece in Lynchburg.

Member of Methodist Church Mr. Hughes was a member of the Methodist church, the American Legion of Danville and a Mason. The remains were taken to Danville, Virginia. Burial services were held at 3:00 p. m. on Wednesday, November 3.

County Quota $10,000—Committees Appointed

The National War Fund Drive in Princess Anne County gets under way with selection of date for the drive and appointment of committee chairmen. In Virginia Governor Colgate Darden serves as Honorary President, actively assisting Homer L. Ferguson of Newport News, who is president. Virginia has accepted as its quota approximately $1,900,000. Of this total Princess Anne County is expected to raise $10,000.

Cox and Hatchett Chairmen

Representatives from the second congressional district met in Suffolk Tuesday, November 2, at the Elliott Hotel to formulate plans for the campaign in the district. R. F. Nelson, Director of Public Relations of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, who has been loaned to handle promotions, presided over the meeting with other representatives from Richmond headquarters in attendance. Governor Darden addressed the meeting.

Frank W. Cox and Russell Hatchett were appointed co-chairmen for Princess Anne County; Sydney Kellam, treasurer and Mrs. Gerald M. Rumble, chairman of publicity. The drive will start December 1 and continue through December 15.

6000 Communities Participating

Through one appeal the United War Fund hopes to raise $125,000,000. This amount is to be distributed among 17 agencies. Drives for all welfare and relief organizations, except the American Red Cross, are being consolidated this year for the fund.

Over six thousand communities have organized to participate in the National War Fund campaign, which started on October 4. The time for the campaign having been left to the discretion of the chairman in each community. In some communities the drive will be carried into January and February.

President Roosevelt in a broadcast from the White House opened the campaign early in October with a plea to his fellow countrymen for support of the drive and urged them to think carefully before giving and to remember what each individual agency stands for.

Your share in this fund is your share in this war.

National Achievement Nov. 6-14

The week of November 6-14 has been designated as National 4-H Achievement and Reorganization Week. As far as possible all clubs are expected to plan for some appropriate observance of the completion of this year's work and the beginning of next year's.

This is really a call to the 4-H colors—to check up on what has been done and to begin on next year's work, for there is a bigger job ahead for us than ever before. More food must be raised and 4-H Clubs are asked to do more of this than they did last year. We on the home front can't fight a war as individuals—it takes organized effort. Therefore, clubs are asked to launch a vigorous and enthusiastic campaign to enlist new members now.

"THE VOICE of a majority, saying the course of government does not insure good government except it be the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people."

LIGHTS ON

Just how much optimism should we feel in the relaxing of precautions is a debatable question. Let us hope that Army and Navy officials are correct in believing the enemy too far from our shores to give us undue concern. Through the chief of Weather Bureau in Washington, military authorities have given permission for dissemination of prewar type information as to weather forecasts, feeling that now such information as they might get would be of no benefit to them.

Along our eastern seaboard almost total darkness has been felt essential to the safety of the country. Now we may brighten our lights once more.

Optimism is a great morale builder but until "the lights go on all over the world" a little relaxation in vigilance is no indication that the end is in sight. Our armed forces are fighting harder than ever before. The home front must back them up stronger than ever before. Don't let false optimism slacken a war effort so necessary to ultimate victory.

ARMISTICE DAY 1943

By Ruth Taylor

"Here lie we dead because we did not choose To shame the land from which we sprung. Life is perhaps no great thing to lose, But young men think it is, And we are young."

We, who remember the casualty lists of the last war, walk with ghosts today. Because the soldiers on our streets, we see those other lads whose lives were far too short, who loved life too greatly to be miserly with it when their country called.

In the Armistice Day pause this year, there will be new heroes to remember. Pearl Harbor, Bataan, Corregidor, Wake Island, Guadalcanal, North Africa, Sicily—before this article appears there will be as many other places all over the globe hallowed by those who could say as did A. E. Housman in the "Epithet for the Fallen": Here lie we dead because we did not choose to shame the land from which we sprung.

They have given their all—and it was so much! Who knows what great things they might have accomplished, what great good might have come to the world if they had been allowed to live, what things they might have created, discovered, invented, taught!

We have to face the fact that before this war is over, thousands upon thousands of these, our finest, will have died. They will be Americans—maybe rich, or poor, maybe Black or White, maybe Protestant, Catholic or Jew; but not German-American, Russian-American, Italian-American; not a "son of the American Revolution," not an immigrant—but just citizens of the United States—Americans who loved their country and its ideals of freedom and equality enough to offer their lives that these ideals of justice and democracy might not perish.

We, too, though we cannot fight, must not "shame the land from which we sprung." We have a duty as binding upon us as that of any soldier as long as this war lasts. Afterwards we have another duty, too—that of seeing to it that they did not die in vain.

that the promises made in the Four Freedoms are at last fulfilled for all the people of all the earth, and that those who come after may live as free men, unafraid in a free world.

As Others See It

FOOLISH OPTIMISM (Civilian Defense News)

Americans are incurable optimists and, generally speaking, optimism is a commendable trait. It is akin to confidence, and faith on one's ability to get things done, and that confidence and faith—plus courage and determination—have had a large part in making the United States what it is today—the greatest and most powerful nation on earth.

But optimism, like other good things, can be carried to an undesirable, even dangerous, extreme. That sort of optimism is too much in evidence just now in our attitude toward the war. Of course, we are going to win it, but—have we won it yet. The ball player who lets down in the ninth inning is likely to lose his team the game. The horse that slows up on the home-stretch may be passed by the one behind.

And in this war we are not in the ninth inning, or anywhere near it. The home-stretch is not even in sight. To slacken our efforts now may be to lose the game, the race—the war.

It is a foolish optimism that sees the war already won and the boys home before Christmas. Yes, they will be home for Christmas—some Christmas—but not the one this year. There is lots of bloody fighting ahead.

And, in the none too certain event that Germany may suddenly crumble as it did in 1918, don't forget Japan. There is a cruel, crafty and powerful foe to be dealt with long after Germany has been beaten to her knees. It will be the work of many long, dreary months, possibly years, to crush the Jap war machine.

So, it is just foolish to look for an early end of the war, but it is every civilian's urgent duty to war harder than ever on the home front, that nothing may be left undone to shorten the war by months, weeks, or even days.

BUYS WAR BONDS FOR GLORY THEN SELLS THEM TO PAY INCOME TAX

Each war brings on a new and different kind of foolishness—those who want the glory for appearing to do something patriotic and then, when the hour of real and definite sacrifice comes, they blantly and quietly shift the responsibility to the shoulders of others, with the result that they still have the "glory" while the unknown still carries the burden.

Examples of this type of citizen have appeared in various parts of the country, but particularly in the war industry centers. Whether from fear of losing jobs or a sheer desire for "glory," they subscribed to War Bonds in a grand manner and boasted to their neighbors and their fellow workers how many War Bonds they had bought. Oh, yes, they were patriotic. If they couldn't fight on the battle front, at least they were doing their part on the home front—they were buying War Bonds.

But time and economic pressure proved their undoing. When the income tax notices appeared in the mail, some very quietly sold their bonds to pay their income tax. The Government was not the gainer by this transaction. However, the man who played the dual role of purchaser and seller of a War Bond, felt elated, but may not feel quite so happy once his neighbors know what he has done.

BREVITY, A FORGOTTEN VIRTUE

The story of the creation of the world is told in Genesis in 400 words. The world's greatest moral code—the Ten Commandments—contains only 287 words. Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg address is but 266 words in length. The Declaration of Independence required only 1,321 words to set up a new concept of freedom.

The Office of Price Administration uses 2,500 words to announce a reduction in the price of cabbage seed.

MORE PAINTS FOR CIVILIANS

Civilian requirements for essential paints and varnishes will be more nearly met as a result of the recent amendment of Food Distribution Order 42, the WPA has reported. The order increased from 50 per cent to 60 per cent the amount of drying oils that can be consumed in paints, varnishes and lacquers.

NATIONAL NEWS OF NOTE

A LOT OF PLAIN TALK

There has been less sharp criticism and bitterness in Washington the past 60 days than at any time since Pearl Harbor. President Roosevelt continues to demand his own way as Chief of the Army and Navy, and everyone seems to be perfectly agreeable. But when the House passed a revised fathers draft bill requiring Selective Service to drain the pool of non-fathers before parents are drafted—which nullified the McNutt "work or fight" order—it served due notice that it was asserting its legislative rights.

The report of the globe-circling Senators has met with practically universal approval by members of both Houses of Congress. The attempts of some of the politicians to belittle the statements of the Senators who criticized England and Russia in this war have been successfully met by the Senators. Congress really seems to have regained its independence.

No harm can come to our Nation from intelligent discussion of all our war and post-war problems. And it seems perfectly justified to include in the discussions the records of Harry Hopkins, Justice Byrnes, Judge Vinson, Treasurer Morgenthau, ex-Governor Lehman—and even boss labor lobbyists Green and Lewis, who cut-in as powerful privateers on the affairs of government. There are plenty of men of great ability among the 533 members of the two houses of Congress whose judgment is worth more to the country than that of the small group who are so often called the "palace guard."

BUTTER vs. OLEOMARGARINE

Congressmen Andreen of Minnesota and Fulmer of South Carolina had an interesting tete-a-tete this week after Professor Carlson of the University of Chicago threw down the challenge: "Just try coloring butter red and see if any one will eat it." Andreen wanted to know why margarine must be colored yellow. Fulmer insisted that five million farmers were opposed to lifting the restriction on the sale of food "that wanted to look like butter." Professor Carlson chipped in and said he considered a tax against margarine a "tax against the common man," and he expressed the belief that there should be an abundant market at all times for both butter and its "substitute," inasmuch as the two are equal in digestibility and nutrition.

Charles W. Holman, a dairyman, advised the protagonists that a fight about margarine and butter was just like a fight in a small country church, in which he said, "the church is all but torn down when the fracs is over." He reminded the Congressmen "this thing started in 1876 and will be going on for many years yet."

The upshot of the whole subject indicates that if the Federal restrictions are removed there still will be restrictions imposed in 32 States, inasmuch as margarine has long been a product about which nobody is neutral.

The margarine manufacturers say that their product is now fortified by Vitamins A and D, but the dairy industry still insists that it is not a "fair competitor," and Congress has been warned that the dairy interests object to all efforts that will masquerade margarine so that it will look like butter.

DISTURBING QUESTION

There are thousands of contractors suffering from "headaches" resulting from the cancellation of about 7 billion dollars of war contracts by the War and Navy Departments. Government news releases show that thousands of contractors have already faced complete or partial stoppage of their government work and pay. Small business has already been offered a plan to enable it to secure small loans through local banks upon guarantees of payment made by authority granted by Small War Plants Corporation Loan Agents in districts throughout the country.

Apparently few manufacturers know whose factory will be a temporary storage place, or cleared for civilian production. Will most factories be junked or will war production material be kept for future emergencies? There are many well-informed persons who think the United States Government will not strip itself of all the machinery necessary for defense for fear a new fool like Hitler might attempt to start another big war.

A POSSIBILITY

It is possible to believe that there will be organized efforts to "socialize" industries on the ground that they "belong in large part to the Government and therefore should be operated under 'government ownership' after the war. That possibility must be fought to a standstill. The American people believe in private enterprise. The military and civilian folks will "want their old jobs back." The soldiers must not experience such bitter disappointments as they faced after World War I. In short, the American system of private enterprise is essential to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" along the home front.

CROATS ORDERED TO CUT CORN

Because corn fields are "excellent hideouts for partisans," the Croat Minister for the Interior has ordered all farmers to cut their fields by the end of this month. If they are not cut by then they will be burned. This information, reported by U. S. government monitors, came from a dispatch to newspapers by M. T. I., controlled Hungarian news agency.

POOL COAL IN AUSTRALIA

Coal stocks of consumers throughout Australia will be cut by 12 per cent and stocks held by all users will be regarded as part of the common pool, according to a recent announcement by the Commonwealth Coal Commissioner. Coal production is highest it has been since the war began but it still does not equal the demand of war industries.

CHINESE ENROLLMENT DOUBLES

CUT DUTCH HORSE MEAT RATION

Nazi occupation authorities in Holland have even cut the Dutch horse meat ration one-third. The weekly meat ration coupons, which used to be good for 150 grams of horse meat now are good for only 100 grams, or about two ounces, according to a report published in a German language daily in Holland.

WOOL CONTROLS

BRAZIL COLLECTS SCRAP RUBBER

BOOKS TO OWN

For an excellent firsthand account of the battle for New Guinea read "The Toughest Fighting in the World" by the Australian correspondent George H. Johnston. Mr. Johnston covered every step of the New Guinea campaign from January, 1942, up until a year later when Australian and American soldiers had driven the Japanese out of their strongholds from which they had threatened Port Moresby and the continent of Australia.

Adventure is no longer unusual, says Mr. Johnston, but sometimes an adventure is so fantastic that it is worth the telling. One such story concerns the crew of a bomber that had crashed in the New Guinea wilderness. After slung their way through the jungle for three terrifying days, the men came upon a clearing where rested the remains of an ancient airplane—a 1919 model. A week's labor, and they made it work. They fueled it with motor petrol they found nearby, and actually took it up. If the incident had been in the hands of Hollywood, the plane would certainly have reached Port Moresby. But Fate was less kind. At the first gust of wind, the rickety plane crashed and the men were stranded for several days more until an Australian plane sighted them.

Health Notes

The Healthy Invalid

If anything sounds like double talk the healthy invalid certainly does. But this is not the case, for there are many people who seem healthy in every respect and yet have all sorts of ailments. These people are just as much in need of treatment as are those patients who are really suffering from any one of the known diseases. The cure is not always simple in these cases, since the condition in the patient may be due to his viewpoint. Somewhere in the individual's life something has gone awry, and he views the outside world and its relation to himself through distorted lenses.

These people are said to be suffering from neurasthenia, and this manifests itself as fatigue, or tired nervous system.

Neurasthenia

One of the prominent symptoms of the disease is fatigue. It is commonly believed these people are fatigued because they do too much. But it is more likely that they are fatigued because they do too little.

It is not the busy mother who is concerned with the management of her family and is constantly occupied, and interested in the affairs of its members who has a neurasthenia. It is rather the person without any occupation or interests with much idle time on her hands, who becomes a neurasthenic victim.

A story is told of a secretary who inherited a fairly large sum of money. She had a very good working record and enjoyed perfect health during her working career. After she gave up her work she suffered from various ailments and visited numerous doctors. When the depression came and her inheritance dwindled, she was obliged to go back to work. This did more for her than all the doctors could have done. She lost her neurasthenia.

We hear much about the strain of modern life, the truth of the matter is that for those persons who are victims of neurasthenia, the conditions of life have never been so easy. It is because these people have reached a time of life when events often become monotonous; and because they have nothing to fill their minds, they begin to worry about their insides.

Symptoms

The most common symptoms complained of by this group are fatigue, insomnia, headache, dyspepsia, and constipation. One neurasthenic has a weak back and cannot use his muscles; he is easily fatigued. Another is certain he has tuberculosis; still another believes himself suffering from heart disease.

Of course the diagnosis can never be established except by a very thorough physical examination. A man with heart disease, tuberculosis, cancer, or any other ailment may present the same symptoms as the neurasthenic, and yet physical examination will show he is not a neurasthenic patient.

We must not misjudge neurasthenics. They are not sick from pure willfulness and they do not want to be sick, but they just don't know how to be well. The cure in these cases depends largely on a plan of education and explanation of their condition. They must be told they can get well, and this will depend on their own determination to do so. Industry needs workers today as never before. Anyone with imaginary ailments can kill two birds with one stone. By taking a job, those suffering a neurasthenia will not only benefit themselves but their country as well. It is well worth a trial.

Payroll Report Must Bear Social Security Number of Employees

More than 1,272,692 social security numbers had been issued to workers in the State of Virginia before July 1, 1943. A year prior to that date, 1,120,436 had been issued to Virginia workers—an increase of 152,256. Figures are not yet available for the third quarter of 1943, but many persons, in this section, who never before held jobs covered by the Social Security Act found employment in business or industry during the past three months.

T. Bosworth Hulcher, manager of the Norfolk office of the Social Security Board, calls attention to the fact that employers in preparing their next quarterly payroll report must include the name and account number of each new employee, in addition to the wage data about their other employees.

Each individual worker has a separate ledger sheet, upon which his earnings are credited. His wage record is made up of "wage items"—each item an amount of wages paid to him during a 3-month period. This wage item is taken from the report which the employer makes to the Federal Government every 3 months, as required by law. On his report, the employer lists the name of each employee, his social security number, and the amount of wages paid him. If a person receives wages from three employers during a 3-month period, there will be three wage items for that quarter to be recorded in his account. If he works for only one employer, there will be only one wage item for him for the 3-month period.

Mr. Hulcher said that it is to the advantage of the employer as well as to that of his employees that he make an accurate and complete social security report. Otherwise he may have to go back over his records, years later, and check previous reports in order to assemble information which the law requires.

Mr. Hulcher explained that while the social security tax report is made to the Collector of Internal Revenue, the Social Security Board is vitally concerned with the wage data contained therein, because this information which is transferred to wage records kept by the Board, serves as a basis for future payments of old-age and survivors insurance benefits. October 30 is the deadline for this next report and tax return.

Gov. Recommends a Change of Name for V. P. F.

RICHMOND, Va. — A recommendation that the name of the Virginia Protective Force be changed to that of the Virginia State Guard will be submitted to the members of the General Assembly by Governor Gaden, according to an announcement just released by him.

The Governor further stated that he would request Adjutant General Samuel Gardner Waller and Brigadier General E. E. Goodwyn, commanding officer of the Virginia Protective Force, to make no further commitments regarding contracts for stationery and supplies until the General Assembly has an opportunity to consider the proposal and the various details which the change of name would necessitate.

The change of name was first suggested by General Goodwyn several months ago on the grounds that a majority of the members had expressed a desire to have it changed since there was such confusion in the minds of the public as to its type of organization and function. At the time it was also pointed out that of the 44 States which have such military organizations all but five call them the State guards. Anxious to have Virginia in line with other States General Goodwyn sent a questionnaire to each member of the Force asking their opinion on the subject. The response was almost unanimous in favor of the change.

Notified by telephone of the Governor's decision, General Goodwyn expressed his pleasure over the announcement and said he believed it would be of great help in recruiting, which is one of the greatest problems which confront the officers in charge, due to the shortage of manpower. The Virginia Protective Force, now consisting of fifty companies divided into twelve battalions, with a total of approximately 4,000 officers and men, came into being just prior to the time the old National Guard was mustered into Federal service in February, 1941.

The change of name would necessitate slight changes in the uniforms and insignia but the expense attached to this, General Goodwyn estimates, will be negligible.

THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE

By Ruth Taylor

What is the American way of life?

We have used the phrase so frequently that sometimes it seems a trifle threadbare at the corners, its lustre dulled by familiarity. Our public speakers, particularly at campaign time, act as though it were an "abracadabra" or magic word that could unlock hidden troves of treasure.

Of course you know the full meaning of the phrase but have you ever tried to explain the American way of life to someone who did not know America, who was not steeped in the traditions of democracy?

I have—and let me assure you it is no easy task. But it does make you stop and think what you really mean by the American way of life. Here is what I found I meant by the phrase.

The American way of life is the way of opportunity for all. It does not mean an equal distribution of all good things, but an equal chance to work for a living at a fair wage. It means free enterprise—free to develop, but not unbridled license to exploit either man or natural resources. It means an equal opportunity to learn, not an equal ability to get ahead without work.

The American way of life is the way of self-restrained freedom. Under it we may freely express our own opinion—but we abide by the decision of the majority. The American way of life implies a decent respect for the beliefs of others, whether or not we agree with them. Under it freedom is permitted up to the point where it impinges upon the rights of others.

The American way of life is the way to progress through the utilization of every resource—not merely the natural ones of the earth, but of that greatest resource of our nation—the intelligence, the initiative, the productive power latent in every individual, regardless of class, creed or color.

We know the same sorrows, joys and hopes. The American way of life is the way by which we may achieve the desire of all for a world untroubled by war, untroubled by want or fear. The American way of life is our way. Let us walk in it for centuries to come, its road made steadily smoother by the patient feet of each generation.

Commission of Game an Asset Not a Liability

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 1 — In the past five years the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries not only has been self-supporting but has actually contributed $193,013.49 to the taxpayers, which sum has gone into the Literary Fund.

Throughout these years not one cent has come from the taxpayers' pockets but the Commission has sustained itself through the sale of hunting, fishing and trapping licenses and permits and 15 per cent of the dog license sales. In other words it has been the sportsmen's own organization, supported solely by them.

It is a very erroneous idea to think that the game commission has been anything of a burden to the taxpayers. On the contrary, in addition to the valuable recreational facilities which it has maintained, it has been a very important aid to the State treasury. Many thousands of pounds of venison and deer have been furnished during the period free to the farmers for planting as quail food and in this manner has been established in all suitable sections of Virginia.

Labor Draft Bill to Conscript 4-F's

Clare Booth Luce (Rep.) Introduces Bill to Aid Selective Service

Representative Clare Booth Luce (Rep.) of Connecticut has introduced a bill in Congress which looks like it might hit the jackpot in regard to the draft situation. In a nut shell it provides for the conscription of the 4-F's and other deferred categories into a non-uniformed, semi-military corps for urgent civilian bottleneck tasks as a supporting backdrop to the Army and Navy. The idea has been brewing for some time among Army and Navy officials and the bill may offer a path out of the dilemma the Selective Service officials find themselves in.

The "Army and Navy Maintenance Corps" would not wear a uniform but would have grades, ranks and pay and receive other benefits which Army and Navy men receive. Into the corps the local selective boards would induct men much as they conscript men for the armed services, men who are needed who have been deferred from armed services for physical, mental and other reasons. Volunteers, single men and fathers last.

The bill seems to be the answer to the coal strike situation as it provides in its first call men who leave essential jobs for other occupation without Selective Service permission or who fail to transfer from one essential occupation to another as the board determines and "absent without cause for such time and under such circumstances as the President may prescribe."

Essential industries could draw on the pool after showing they could not meet manpower shortages through volunteer recruitment and personnel made available by unions and government agencies.

The legislation is streamlined not only to muster into supporting production activities needed quotas of 4-F's not now employed in essential industries but to free for active service with Army and Navy, able-bodied, all military-age 24's in key jobs who are not now replaceable. The bill would automatically slow down the induction of fathers into the armed services and would be a definite morale builder for our fighting men abroad, many of whom are paying the ultimate sacrifice simply because they did not have flat feet. The Army and Navy Maintenance Corps can use flat-footers.

APPROVE INTER-AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

The creation of an inter-American university in Panama was unanimously approved at the recent Conference of Ministers and Directors of Education of the American Republics. Addressing the delegates, President Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia of Panama expressed the belief that the conference would bring good results "for the social and cultural development of the 21 republics. . . We are taking part in the most bloody and terrible struggle that history has ever seen. . . All this sacrifice and suffering," he declared, "has meaning and value through the certainty that we are fighting to abolish injustice and tyranny in the organization of nations."

FEAR JAPS RUIN QUININE PLANTATIONS

Fears that the Japanese are stripping the quinine forests of Java and that, for years after allied liberation of the island, the world may be without its great quinine production were expressed in a Melbourne, Australia Dutch-language publication by Netherlands East Indies experts. In peacetime, Java produced 95 per cent of the world's supply of quinine, the most effective drug in the treatment of malaria.

Emergency Water Supply Planned

Virginia will not be caught napping if enemy bombs, sabotage or other disaster should suddenly put the water supply of one or more of its cities out of commission. A State Emergency Water Supply Committee has been created by the Office of Civilian Defense and is working out plans for temporary water supply for any community that may suffer emergency action against its water system.

The eight-man committee is headed by Major Richard I. Messer, Director of the Bureau of Engineering of the State Department of Health. E. H. Herbert, superintendent of water, Norfolk, serves on the committee for this district.

Farmers Must Pay Income Before Dec. 15

May Show Depreciation

BLACKSBURG — It's time right now for farmers to begin figuring up their 1943 income and to get ready to pay Uncle Sam on or before December 15, says W. J. Nuckolls, farm accounting specialist at V. P. I. .

Farmers need only to estimate their income for the year on December 15, but payment at this time is required in order for farmers to "pay as they go." Nuckolls explains. A final report on 1943 income is due March 15. A single farmer with a gross income of $500 or more, or a married farmer with a gross income of $824 or more, must file a return on December 15.

One of the first things you will need to do is to total the amount of income received from the sale of crops and livestock and any other income you may have. Then you will need to estimate expenses such as labor hired, cost of repairs and maintenance, and feed, seed, plants and supplies purchased.

An ideal worksheet for figuring these amounts is form 1040F, which you can get from your local bank or your nearest Collector of Internal Revenue. Write the Collector of Internal Revenue in Richmond if you are in doubt about the address.

When December rolls around, you will need to transfer these figures onto form 1040ES, and the farm accounting specialist recommends the short form for filling at this time. The long form, which will save you more money, can be used when you make your final return in March.

Some Virginia farmers have been overlooking one angle in estimating their income taxes that would save them money. In filing your return, you can show depreciation on all farm buildings except the dwelling house, and on farm machinery and equipment. It is legal to deduct these amounts. For instance, for the average rough, unpainted building you can estimate depreciation at the rate of about four or five per cent a year.

Dairymen can capitalize all dairy cattle and show depreciation on them. This can also be done for beef cattle for breeding. Depreciation can also be shown on them. This can also be done for beef cattle for breeding. Depreciation can also be shown on such equipment as cream separators and the like.

BUILDING A BETTER WORLD

A new supplementary health teaching unit, "Building A Better World," has just been supplied to the teachers of Princess Anne County by the Princess Anne Tuberculosis Association.

The unit was prepared by students taking the course in "Guidance" at Teachers College, Columbia University, under the direction of Dr. Ruth Strang, and was sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association.

Dr. Strang is the author of a number of well-known teaching guides, including the "Health and Growth" series of textbooks used throughout the country. She is also author of the teaching unit, "Healthful Living in the Home," published by the National Tuberculosis Association in 1938.

Commenting on the teaching unit, Louise Luxford, elementary supervisor, says: "A teaching unit such as 'Building A Better World' aids in developing emotional stability within the pupil amidst a word of emotional distress. Moreover, it makes an attempt to check and to improve the pupil's physical condition. The elementary schools of Princess Anne County are happy to have the opportunity of developing the unit, 'Building A Better World.'"

All of the elementary schools in Princess Anne County have received the teaching units and plan to use them in connection with their regular classroom projects.

URGES FARMERS TO COLLECT SCRAP

In support of the all-out "Victory Scrap Bank" drive to collect iron and steel scrap, Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, has urged farmers to comb their farms for all possible scrap. Pointing out that next to industry, the greatest source of heavy scrap is the American farm, Mr. Jones said: "American farmers are doing the greatest food production job in history. However, if we are to insure ample steel for wartime production, millions of tons of scrap iron and steel must come from our farms in the next six weeks."

TIRE HELP FOR TRUCK OWNERS

Truck owners who have tire rationing certificates but are unable to get tires because local quotas are used up and those operators unable to get ration certificates because of depletion of quotas soon may get help through the Office of Defense Transportation. Instructions on procedure for reporting such cases soon will be issued to the 142 ODT district managers. After cases are reported ODT will clear shortages with the Office of the Rubber Director in an effort to get the necessary tires.

USE SYNTHETIC RUBBER FOR ELASTIC THREAD

Synthetic rubber may eventually be used in garters, suspenders, foundation garments and underwear. All restrictions on the manufacture of elastic thread made with synthetic rubber have been suspended by WFB until April 1, 1944.

Mail in November Is Request of Postmaster

Shopping Early Will Aid Retail Stores

Delivery of the annual flood of Christmas gifts and cards on time, always a serious problem, "will be more than a problem this year—it will be an impossibility—unless Christmas mailings are made largely in November," Postmaster General Frank C. Walker warned today.

"Transportation facilities are burdened to the limit with war materials and personnel, and the Postal Service has sent more than thirty-one thousand experienced employees into the Army and Navy," Mr. Walker said. "The only solution to the Christmas problem is: MAIL IN NOVEMBER. Mark your parcels, 'DO NOT OPEN UNTIL CHRISTMAS.' That is the only way to avoid disappointment on Christmas Day not only for many civilians but also for millions of members of the armed forces who are still in this country."

"It is also the only way to avoid the possibility of a Christmas emergency in the transportation and postal services. If the public will cooperate by mailing their Christmas parcels DURING NOVEMBER, we can handle a small volume of light, last-minute mailings, such as cards, up to December 10—but we can do that and avoid an emergency only if November is really 'Christmas Mailing Month.'"

Postal officials pointed out that the volume of mail now is far above any previous records, that railway cars by the hundreds have been diverted to war service and that the air lines have only about half as many planes as they once operated.

More than two hundred thousand extra temporary employees normally are employed to help with the holiday postal rush. This year, the extra employees will be largely women and high school boys and girls who are unable to work the long hours usually required and whose work will be relatively slow.

To deliver the Christmas mails on time, therefore, it is necessary that mailings be spread out over a longer period so that available transportation equipment and postal personnel can be used during more weeks. It will be utterly impossible to make the deliveries by Christmas if mailers wait until the last three weeks before the holiday, as in normal years.

There is another reason for shopping and mailing earlier than ever before. Retail stores are short-handed. Purchasers can avoid shopping in crowded stores, long waits for service, and other inconveniences of late shopping if they buy now. They will also doubtless have a better choice of merchandise than will be available later.

Postmaster General Walker observed that his warning is not an attempt to tell the public what to do; it is only an advance notification of what will happen if they mail late. He feels that the public is entitled to the facts, and that when they know them, they will decide to MAIL IN NOVEMBER.

VIRGINIA BEACH VOLUNTEER FIREMEN HAVE OYSTER ROAST

The Virginia Beach Volunteer Fire Department held its annual oyster roast on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Keeling's oyster house at Lynnhaven.

Among the 150 guests were representatives from Fort Story, Camp Pendleton and members of the Norfolk Fire and Police Departments.

The principal address of the evening was given by Mayor W. W. Elliott of Virginia Beach. Other members of the Virginia Beach Council made brief speeches. Chief Cannon and Chief Hadron of Norfolk and Chiefs McMann and Jenkins from Fort Story and Camp Pendleton also addressed the gathering.

Colored Ministers with R. W. Beckett as Chairman to Solicit Colored of County

The National War Fund Drive in Princess Anne County will get under way officially December 1. While no plans for the campaign are ready for publication at this time all committee chairmen are at work drafting the program for the campaign.

The Rev. Beckett of Oceana has been appointed chairman to work among the colored people and all colored ministers in the county will serve on his committee.

The need for expanded service on the part of many home front organizations is very great. The Children's Home Society of Virginia, in Richmond, is one of these agencies. Arrangements have been made to combine with the Norfolk solicitation, the Princess Anne county and Virginia Beach campaigns. Solicitation will be by mail from the office of the chairman, in Norfolk, Robert T. Hasler.

Improved business conditions generally, and the fact that there is practically an absence of unemployment, reduces, in a measure, the budgetary needs of relief agencies. Additional tasks, however, are crowding their way to the doors of these agencies which care for children and engage in character building and recreational activities. On the whole, the need for additional contributions for home service agencies over their requirements of last year is very great indeed. Added to this is the great appeal for foreign relief.

Be ready with your contribution when called upon to give—give once for all.

REPORTS OF FOREIGN HOLDINGS MUST BE FILED BY DEC. 1

Citizens of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County who own any property in foreign countries were notified by Postmaster J. Clarence Hayman today that they must file reports of their foreign holdings with the Treasury Department before December 1. The notice was given by means of a poster placed on display in the post office.

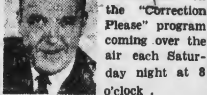

Postmaster Hayman points out that it is necessary for the government to have as complete information as possible on the American state abroad to assist the military authorities and the civilian governments on the fighting fronts and to bring about sound solutions of the post-war problems.

Report forms, known as TFR-500, may be obtained through commercial banks, or from the nearest Federal Reserve Bank, the postmaster states. Penalties are provided for those who fail to file reports.

Va. Beach Resident Radio Entertainer

Jim McWilliams Conducts Unique Program

Jim McWilliams of Virginia Beach, famed for many years as the conductor of quiz programs over the air, is now Master of Ceremonies on the "Correction Please" program coming over the air each Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Service men in the audience at this broadcast never know when they are going to be called on as singing soloists. Before the broadcast McWilliams has the audience sing old songs to "break the ice." He invariably singles out a man in uniform, brings him to the stage and has him do a solo.

For a number of years Mr. McWilliams resided at Virginia Beach. Upon retirement from active business he purchased a farm near Charlottesville, at Esomont, Virginia. While there he volunteered his services to the University of Virginia to help entertain the men at a Sunday evening "get-together," where again he conducted a quiz program.

Early last summer he returned to his home at Virginia Beach on 117th Street, where he is living at present.

He is acting as program chairman for the new U.S.O. club in Norfolk, where, he plans entertainment for men in the armed forces stationed in this area. Virginia Beach is happy to claim as a native, a man so gifted and so generous with his time and his talents.

Blue Team Wins in Bond Sales Drive

Ladies Auxiliary and Board of Directors to Meet

At the regular Monday night meeting held at the Pinewood Hotel the Virginia Beach Lions went on record to again sponsor the scrap drive at Virginia Beach. Last year the Lions, working with the Boy Scouts under the direction of Hugh Lynn Cayon, collected more than 300,000 pounds of scrap from Virginia Beach, a record that stood up along side collections from any of the nation's communities. According to census figures that amount would average 150 pounds per capita.

This year the public school children will aid in the drive and the club will offer a prize to the grade in the elementary schools which brings in the most scrap.

James P. Barton, Irvin Hestead and Maurice McKenney were appointed co-chairmen of the drive. Ed Kelley, local USO director, will handle all phone calls. Anyone having scrap iron or steel please call Virginia Beach 2290 or Oceana 226 or 399M and the committee in charge will see to its collection.

Blue Team Wins Bond Sale

Final report on Bond Sales show the winners to be the Blue Team with Webb Brown, chairman. This team sold $45,625 worth of war bonds while the Reds, headed by Kenneth Crusier, sold $28,110. The grand total for the club was $71,735. The losers will be hosts to the winners at a dinner the latter part of the month. This drive was in conjunction with the Virginia Beach Bond Campaign to name a Liberty ship for Ben Ruffin, deceased, of Richmond, Virginia, one of Virginia's two international presidents.

Kenneth Crusier spoke on "Lionism," stressing the extent and influence of Lionism throughout the world.

Bill Johnson, president, reported on the annual fall conference held in Richmond, at which he was a delegate representing the local club. He also announced that the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the club on November 22 will be Captain Sutcliffe from Fort Story.

THE "WHY" OF SCRAP

As furnaces are roaring to produce scrap steel for tanks, planes and guns, Uncle Sam's scrap pile is rapidly diminishing. The need for scrap steel is daily becoming more critical, and that need must be recognized by each and every citizen.

It might be asked why in this land of plenty, with its huge deposits of iron ore, there is such an urgent and unprecedented demand for scrap iron and steel. There are good reasons. Steel is made of scrap and pig iron—metal melted from iron ore. Even in normal times scrap supplies about one-half of the raw material for steel production, and the reason behind it is that scrap contains much valuable alloy material which is recovered in steel production. With the shortage in critical materials—such as nickel, tungsten, chromium and other metals needed for the many types of alloy for the production of weapons—such recovery becomes all the more imperative. Too, while there is abundant ore available for the production of pig iron, much labor and extensive transportation facilities are needed to mine, purify and transport the ore to the steel mills.

These are only a few reasons why scrap collection of the ferrous metals and other materials is essential to war production. The salvaging of scrap is a job for every man, woman and child in America. We must dig, and dig deep, in the "mine-above-the-ground," the rich reserve of junk which wasteful America has accumulated through the years. Those mining operations may well determine whether — and how soon — we will win the war!

As announced elsewhere in the news columns, the scrap drive in Virginia Beach will be handled by the members of the Lions Club. These men are interested in the job ahead of them—they have pledged themselves to salvage every possible piece of scrap metal to be found in the community—but the task can be made immeasurably easier by the full support and cooperation of all who live here.

Cellars, attics, garages, tool rooms and kitchens — even in the children's play rooms—make ideal places in which to poke for the needed metals. To the extent that each person will assume his share of the responsibility of digging out the scrap pile will the steel industry of America benefit. If you do your part, all will be well!

Finally, we would add this warning. The time for each of us to act is now. The situation is most critical. We've sent our boys to the far-flung battleposts of the world and told them to win. We have promised we would give them the best of everything to fight with — and we need all the scrap in America to make that come true — right now when it means their very lives and perhaps a much longer war if it doesn't come true.

FIT THE POOR MOTORIST

Motorists in this area were advised last week to remove dim-out lights and paint from car lights and to revert to pre-war lighting conditions. These were official lets were advised NOT to remove the dim-out shades from the office upon a paragraph in the order issued by Maj. Gen. William A. Rickard, commanding officer of the Third Service Command. The paragraph follows:

"It is recommended that no permanent installations be altered or removed that would prevent a quick resumption of dim-out regulations."

Now the sequel to the story is that Virginia Beach motorists are being stopped and told that they must remove the paint from head lights and all hoods taken off.

Just what is the driver to do when of necessity he must drive in one place where the light is off and also in another where it is on? It is always the pleasure of citizens to cooperate in every way possible. We are now abiding and no intention to break a regulation is in the mind of the average citizen. However, there seems to be no way out of sleeping on someone's toes if one has the misfortune to commute between Norfolk and Virginia Beach.

EN GARDE! By Ruth Taylor

"What house is so strong or what state so enduring that it cannot be utterly overthrown by atomistics and divisions?" So wrote Cicero nearly two thousand years ago.

"A warning against divisive tactics again!" you will say. "But don't you know the war is being won?"

Of course it is being won, but in the winning we can suffer a bitter defeat. Of what avail is a Pyrrhic victory. The unity which grew up overnight when we were attacked is showing signs of being too quick a construction job. There are cracks across it and the breaches in the walls brought about by group hatreds and prejudices have not been mended.

Listen to people talk today. Notice how quick they are to blame their neighbors for all that is troublesome. I've had three examples of this recently. A labor man, whom I had always counted on as being as conservative as myself, showed me a fragment of self-interest on the part of one firm and said "that's the attitude of industry." Another man whom I have always respected for his fairness, startled me by his generalized denunciation of all labor after an outburst strike condemned by labor itself. A third man made me sick at heart by a virulent diatribe against minority groups.

Those are cracks in the wall. Those are the signs of danger. The greatest peril, however, will come when the siege hells send the men are withdrawn from the walls. Then if we let it happen, disunity will divide us into small self-seeking groups. Then will the breaches widen until a small force can march in and seize the state.

It has happened before. It can happen again. And it will happen to us unless we use care in preventing it. We must stand watchfully as in the heat of battle. We must stand shoulder to shoulder in the reconstruction of the world, never slackening in our fight against divisive influences. We must remain on guard to preserve our unity.

A VIRGINIA STORY

John O'Ren in the Baltimore Sun An approach to national unity of a striking kind has been reported to me by a colleague just back from a trip to Virginia. There he was told of a gentleman, born and bred in the north and educated at Harvard, who was sent by the army to take the administrator's course at Charlottesville. At the University of Virginia he realized for the first time that all the American history he had learned was marked by a New England slant, and as he began to study the past from the Virginia angle he grew more and more enthusiastic, eventually developing into an unrestrained rebel.

At a dinner party one night he gave vent to his new enthusiasm in an indictment of the damn Yankees so blistering that it evoked loud applause from the Virginia element present. But the white-haired lady at his right did not approve.

"You ought not to talk that way about them," she protested. "You forget that they are our allies now, just as much as the Chinese and the Russians."

There's a close connection between getting up in the world and getting up in the morning.

NATIONAL NEWS OF NOTE

STATEMENT BY SENATOR HARRY F. WHEAT (D-Vt.) ON THE SUBJECT OF THE COAL STRIKE

It is a national disgrace that one man has the power and does that power in time of war to suspend completely the mining of bituminous coal. Time and time again since Pearl Harbor, John Lewis has defied the President and the Government. He has brought about four coal crises since March. By these repeated interruptions, the production of soft coal has been reduced by many millions of tons.

Today I am informed by the Interior Department that in the last strike alone 10 million tons of bituminous coal production has already been lost. Every day a strike continues adds another 2 million tons to this production loss.

The appointment policy adopted by the government toward John Lewis does not work. He has been coddled so much by the leaders of our government that he now believes he is bigger than the government itself. Had an industrialist sabotaged the war effort to even a fraction of the degree John Lewis has done, the President would have held him up to the most severe public condemnation as a traitor to his country. But all officials of the government treat John Lewis with such awe and uncouth deference as to make the ordinary citizen wonder: "Upon what merit doth this our Caesar feed. That he is grown so great?"

The Smith-Connally bill, in explicit language, says "it shall be unlawful for any person to coerce, instigate, induce, conspire with, or encourage any person, to interfere, by lock-out, strike, slow-down, or other interruption, with the operation of such plant, mine or facility" owned by the government. Such a person is subject, under the Smith-Connally law, to a "fine of not more than $5,000, or to imprisonment for not more than one year, or both."

Since 6 o'clock on November 1, the United States Flag has been flying over the bituminous coal mines. Can anyone say John Lewis is not guilty of encouraging or instigating this strike? In June, he announced to his miners, "We will work until October 31," and then added that the agreement to work would automatically cease if the mines were returned back to private ownership. This statement in itself makes him guilty of violating the Smith-Connally Act. He should be punished like any other citizen who has defied the government in time of war. What immunity has he to break the nation's laws? Coal production is the most vital of all war activities.

Any interruption or relaxing of our war effort means the death of thousands more of American boys. It is tragic to temporize any longer with this dangerous situation, which already has gone so far as to reduce seriously our production of armaments and occasion suffering at home by a shortage of coal for domestic use in the cold months ahead.

RELIEF ADMINISTRATION ESTABLISHED

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was formally established at a ceremony of signature at the White House November 9 and begins its work this week in a conference in Atlantic City. Thirty-three United Nations invited to sign the agreement were: Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, China, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Ethiopia, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, India, Iran, Iraq, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Philippines, Poland, Union of South Africa, Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, United States and Yugoslavia. Ten nations associated with the United Nations in this war, also invited to sign, were: Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Egypt, Iceland, Liberia, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela. The French Committee of National Liberation was also invited to sign.

GERMANS KILL ITALIAN MULES

An American division in the Italian mountains became the envy of others when it received 300 large mules to pack supplies and ammunition. As soon as the Germans realized that American infantrymen were using the animals, they began a systematic slaughter of all the Italian mules they could find.

SANTA CLAUS WITH AN AMERICAN ACCENT

Members of the Eighth Army Air Force in England have opened a Hobby Shop. Here the boys spend their spare time making toys for English children—model tanks, fire trucks, cradles, Tommy-guns, little wooden locomotives, racing automobiles with real windmills. The boys go to the schools in poorer districts and ask the teachers which children need things and what they like the most. The boys set a goal of 2,400 toys to be made and stuffed, with candy and gum from their weekly rations.

DANES BLOW UP GERMANS

When the Danish Admiral Vedel had given his order that the fleet was to be either scuttled or sailed to Sweden, a detachment of German marines succeeded in getting on board the Danish naval ship "Ingolf." The German commander demanded 10 hostages as guarantee that the ship would not be blown up or scuttled. The Captain of the "Ingolf" said, "I can't prevent you from taking the hostages but I must call your attention to the fact that the sea cocks are already open." The Germans put their ten hostages in a row on the deck, when suddenly a signal sounded, the whole Danish crew, hostages and all, jumped overboard, and deafening explosions shook the ship. Many of the Germans were killed or wounded, but all the Danes escaped. This report came from the Stockholm newspaper, Dagens Nyheter.

19,000 REFUGEES NOW IN SWEDEN

Nineteen thousand Norwegian refugees are now in Sweden and 7,000 of these are earning their own way by working "in forest, agriculture, industry and road construction," according to an article in the Swedish newspaper, Dagens Nyheter. "The refugees offer a possibility for personal contact and a foundation for friendly Swedish-Norwegian relations that may be far more decisive for the future than theoretical political plans," the article commented.

TESTIFIES TO ACTIVITY OF FRENCH PATRIOTS

"There is growing proof of the faith, number and strength, and the activity of French patriots," said the Commissioner of the Interior of the French National Liberation Committee, in an interview upon his return to London. "Although winter is coming on, positions in the mountains are being held. There are nearly 80,000 men organized in 'hideouts' at lower altitudes than during the summer. Thanks to the tremendous efforts which have been made to provide them with clothing, provisions, and means of heating, we are hoping that they will get through the bad season in conditions which are more or less bearable."

WILD ANIMALS PLAGUE NORWEGIANS

Deer, wolves, wolverines, and foxes have staged such a come-back in Norway during the past three years that they have become a plague to the Norwegian farmers. Stripped of their forests by Nazi order, the Norwegians are unable to combat the pests. Wolves, formerly confined to northern Norway, have spread southward. One Gudbrandsdal farmer recently lost 35 sheep in a single night.

FARMERS FIGHT INVADERS

Netherlands farmers and livestock raisers, despite strong pressure by German occupation authorities, are continually evading requisition orders and sabotaging production in their attempts to keep vital food stocks out of Nazi hands. One of the most common tricks for farmers whose cattle have been requisitioned is to "steal" the animals from their pastures at night. Furthermore, harvesting has been done improperly on a large scale, with consequent spoilage or diversion of produce to the "black" market. Nevertheless, they "save" as much as they can for local consumption, via the black market.

ELRE TO FURNISH CANNED BEEF

Ten firms in Elre expect to can a total of 23½ million pounds of beef, during the season ending next March. This canned beef will be exported to the United Kingdom.

U. S. Marines Celebrate 168th Birthday

Established By Continental Congress Nov. 10, 1775

On November 10 the world-famous U. S. Marine Corps celebrated its 168th birthday. Marching down the high road of history the men are proud of the antiquity of their corps.

Tracing back their history to the early days of the American Revolution the U. S. Marine Corps is older than the Declaration of Independence. The Continental Marine Corps, a forerunner of the U. S. Marine Corps, was established by the Continental Congress on November 10, 1775. This corps was represented on virtually every warship of the Continental Navy.

The first officer of the Continental Marine Corps was Captain Samuel Nicholas, later promoted to Major, who received his commission November 28, 1776, ten days after the Marine Corps had been established by the Continental Congress.

Back in the days of flintlock and fighting tops, members of the Marine Corps wore green coats, white waistcoats and buff colored trousers that disappeared in leggings above the knees. When Marines charged "From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli" it is no idle boast. All over the world, from the battlefields of Europe to the remote islands of the Pacific, they have spread their banners and fought their way to victory, often with the odds against them.

Without pomp and pageantry, commanding officers of U. S. Marines in all parts of the world read a traditional birthday greeting to their respective commands on November 10 marking the 168th birthday of their famous branch of our armed forces.

What the neighbor's children don't know about you probably aren't worth your children telling them.

THE LAND OF SMILING PEOPLE

A college professor asked Alexander Kennedy, the Russian, the following question: "What is the thing in America which impressed you most when you first came here?" "This is easy," was Kennedy's answer. "In America the people smile."

Americans smile because they are free. There are no Gestapos to fear; no firing squad to shoot them down if they want to listen to their radio. They can worship God according to the dictates of their conscience. They can put into office the men they want to govern them.

Americans smile because in America human personality is supreme. The aim of democracy is to help the individual to grow and to give him an opportunity to attain happiness and success. Americans smile because they have hope. The future is aglow with promise. They can have their families, their gardens, their homes, their dreams—and they can make many of those dreams come true.

Totalitarian countries have governments that are "of the state, by the state and for the state." That's why life is hard and cruel.

In America we have a government that is "of the people, by the people and for the people." That's why we smile.

Today we are fighting to keep America a land of smiling people. —The Silver Lining.

William Phelps of London Bridge announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Martha Phelps, to Donald E. Wightman, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wightman of Michigan, Tuesday evening at the London Bridge Baptist parsonage. Rev. L. L. Jessup, pastor of the church, officiated. There were no attendants.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Stiles B. Lines, rector of the church, in the presence of members of the immediate families. The church was arranged with white caryantheums and lighted candles, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Louise Robinson.

The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a suit of coral tweed with brown accessories, Kolinsky furs and a corsage of brown orchids.

Bazaar To Be Held

Theatre Previews

Ann Sothorn, in the name role of M. G. M.'s "SWING SHIFT MAISIE," will come to the Bayne Theatre on Friday for two days, November 12 and 13. She goes to work in a defense plant where she meets a test pilot, James Craig, who almost chooses the wrong girl as his life partner. Supporting these two will be Jean Rogers and John Qualen. Miss Sothorn's characterization of Maisie is as sprightly as ever, but she adds a new note of inspiration by showing women's part in American war industries today. Craig plays the pilot as neatly as he did the telegraph manager in "The Human Comedy," and Miss Rogers' unaccustomed role of "heavy" is convincingly done.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Sonja Henie, Cesar Romero, Carole Landis and Jack Oakie will be featured in "WINTERTIME." Here's melody and romance and sensational Sonja! So much glitter and glamor and stars all around her... and the splendor of snow-covered Canada after her twinkling feet!

Robert Paige, Louise Allbritton, Diana Barrymore and Walter Abel will be co-starred in "FIRED WIFE" which comes to the Bayne Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. A hilarious comedy-drama of a secret marriage, between a radio executive and a noted feminine stage director is the basis of the plot and much of the action takes place backstage, in a Broadway theater and a great radio station.

For the Roland Theater the offering for Friday and Saturday, November 12 and 13, will be "NEXT OF KIN" starring Nova Pilbeam, Phillis Stanley, Basil Sidney and Guy Mas. This is the film which British officialdom, for a time, refused to allow the English public to see, because it was considered too starkly realistic. The picture shows the tragedy that may result from thoughtless chatter about military secrets in wartime.

There will be a double feature on Sunday and Monday, Chester Morris, Jean Parker, Barry Sullivan and Ralph Sanford, co-starring in "HIGH EXPLOSIVES," and Ray Corrigan in "COWBOY COMMANDOS." Thrills—excitement—danger—that's the lot of the lads who carry the nation's vitally needed high explosives from powder plant to ammunition factory as our country girls see victory. This story is told in "High Explosives." "Cowboy Commandos" is a thrilling Western of dashing cowboys pursuing a gang of Nazi saboteurs bent on destroying a western lake supply.

ing needed maximum to the government.

"PRAIRIE CHICKENS" starring Jimmy Rogers, Joe Sawyer, Noah Beery, Jr. and Marjorie Woodworth; also Bill Boyd in "BORDER PATROL," will end the offerings for the week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Garden Club Receives Award

Mrs. C. T. Hull Hostess with Mrs. Ralph Pennoyer

The Princess Anne Garden club held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph G. Pennoyer in Bird Neck Park, with Mrs. C. T. Hull serving as hostess.

Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, president, gave a report of the meeting held in Roanoke, Va., on October 28 and 29. This meeting was of presidents and board of governors of the Garden Club of Virginia. Miss Hull attended and represented the local club.

Mrs. Gustav Friebe, chairman of war bond sales, reported that through the systematic purchase of bonds the Princess Anne club had received from the government the award of merit for its activity in this line.

The club members were hostesses at the U. S. O. club on October 31. Miss Mary Johns, chairman for the U. S. O. work, reported that in the room, attractively decorated with fall flowers, homemade cakes, cookies and coffee were served to approximately 700 service men.

There were reports from all standing committees and members at large on the success of Victory gardens and canning projects. Miss Marian Peretti stressed the importance of continuing the garden in the fall for spring bloom. This may be accomplished by planting perennials, roses and hardy annuals and proper fertilization.

Arrangements were submitted by Mrs. Raymond Pritchard, Miss Evelyn Collins Hill and Mrs. Halle Old.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served by the hostess.

American Legion Auxiliary To Meet Monday Nov. 15th

Full Attendance Requested by President

A recent convention held in Charlottesville, Virginia, was attended by the following delegates from the organization: Mrs. Linus Williams, Mrs. A. H. Bass, Mrs. Walton G. Holland and Mrs. Roy C. Casper.

Lastest of an air recruit whose girl hasn't been writing frequently as quoted in "Spin in Dumb-wacks" by Lieutenant Richard N. Ryan:

"Ain't you got no paper?
Ain't you got no pen?
Ain't you got no envelope?
To put my letter in?"

According to the story, the girl to whom this was sent got the hint, and letters were short again after that.

Hampton Roads Population Soars 45% in 3 Years

The civilian population of the Norfolk - Portsmouth - Newport News metropolitan area increased an estimated 145,227, or 45.2 per cent, between April 1, 1940, and March 1, 1943, the Bureau of Census reported. The figure did not include the military population.

The bureau, which said its estimates were based on registrations for War Ration Book 2, said the cities of Hampton, Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth and South Norfolk and the counties of Elizabeth City, Norfolk, Princess Anne and Warwick had a combined civilian population of 321,560 on April 1, 1940, and 466,787 on March 1, 1943.

Time was when the only way to keep abreast of changes in population both for the country and for the individual communities and market areas, was to adjust the ten-year census figures by changes in electric light meters, school enrollments and telephone installations. These were admittedly inaccurate in the smoothest of times - now they are less dependable because you can't tell much about population from telephone figures when lack of equipment has delayed new installations.

For Chambers of Commerce, retailers and others whose business depends on periodic checks of how population in individual communities changes, the Census Bureau has some new tips. Ration book registrations provide a new yardstick, but it must be used carefully. For one thing, there are about a million people over the country in institutions where they are not eligible for ration books. For another, it is estimated that some persons, through error or chicanery, get duplicate ration books, and these amount to 0.16 per cent of the total figures.

Procedure for using ration book figures, then, is this. First, correct them for known numbers of institution inmates. Then reduce the total figure by 0.16 per cent. Book No. 2 figures are available in many communities. Book 3 figures were not classified by areas. But Book 4 will be available with data as to age and sex.

POTATO CROP PROMISES TO SET RECORD

Consumers may expect the largest supply of white potatoes this winter that they ever have had. If weather conditions remain favorable. Crop reports, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, indicate that farmers will turn out an all-time record of 469 million bushels of potatoes - 98 million bushels more than last year.

This large crop presents a storage problem. Space must be found for 50 to 60 million bushels. Facilities that normally might have been available are being used for storing supplies for our armed forces.

The War Food Administration urges housekeepers who have a suitable storage place to buy and store a peck or more at a time. Potatoes are an excellent energy food, containing Vitamin C, Vitamin B1, iron and other important minerals. Storing them now will insure families against possible higher prices and diminishing supplies later.

Potato Storage Suggestions

Potatoes should be kept in a dark, dry place where the temperature does not rise above 60 degrees or fall below 40 degrees. Potatoes should be carefully inspected for decay before storing, and all the decayed ones removed. Bruised or cracked potatoes should be used first since they will not keep well. If potatoes are kept at temperatures below 40 degrees for any length of time, some of the starch in them will turn to sugar, giving them a sweet taste. This may be eliminated by putting them in a warmer place for about a week, during which the sugar turns back to starch and the natural flavor is restored.

Information on how to store potatoes in barrels or pits in the back yard may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

UNSATLED BUTTER PRICE DOWN

Maximum prices of unsalted butter have been reduced by 1/4 of a cent a pound, which means direct savings to consumers. Other changes made by OPA in the price regulation for butter will act to end inflationary pressures which had arisen. Unsalted butter previously had a 1/4 premium over salted butter.

Major Dickson Buried Tuesday

Funeral services for Maj. Richard Dickson, USMC, killed in a plane crash November 4 at Jacksonville, Fla., were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the H. D. Oliver Funeral Apartments with the Rev. Stiles Lines, rector of Galilee Episcopal church, and the Rev. Reginald Eastman of Gloucester, formerly of Virginia Beach, officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery with military honors. A volley was fired by a firing squad and a bugler sounded taps at the grave.

Major Dickson, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Petty Dickson, of Virginia Beach, was a graduate of the University of Virginia. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve in 1940 and was transferred to the Regular Marine Corps in 1941. He saw action in the North African before being transferred to aviation. He won his wings last August.

Major Dickson is survived by his parents; two brothers, Lieut. (jg) William P. Dickson, Jr., USNR, and Lieut. Charles Talbot Dickson, AAF, and one sister, Miss Anne T. Dickson.

U. S. O. NEWS

Halloween was really celebrated at the USO club Friday night when local ladies under the sponsorship of the Women's Reserve Naval Service (WRNS) appeared with six hundred babies and other goodies they had prepared for the servicemen. Mr. Kelly, director of the club, in closing the party as one of the best in the club's history, expressed special appreciation to Lt. Mildred Lachman, in charge of the WRNS, and to Mrs. Rose Morecock who had planned the affair and supervised decorations.

Mrs. Colonna of Norfolk had secured Unit No. 4 of the Navy Y Troupers. The very talented cast of fifty gave a performance deeply appreciated by the audience of servicemen which packed the USO's auditorium. The show was directed by Bruce Roberts and featured in an excellent cast Tiny Roberts of the New York Stage. The troupe works without compensation and is self supporting.

Notice To Wives Of Servicemen

The USO Club at Virginia Beach, one block from the bus terminal, is open for your use every day from 10:00 a. m. to 11:00 p. m. Recreation, writing facilities, games, music, classes, a sewing machine, etc., are available. Drop in or phone Miss Wolfe, assistant director at Virginia Beach 2296.

Tuesday Candle-Light Cabaret Popular At USO

The new Tuesday program, started a few weeks ago at the Virginia Beach USO club, has developed into a major activity. Each succeeding Tuesday brings a larger group of servicemen and hostesses to dance, enjoy refreshments and general entertainment. Informality is the keynote of this program conceived by Miss Fantone of the club staff and carried on by a group of local ladies including Mrs. Gustafson, Mrs. Robbers, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Sykes and Mrs. Leggins. Refreshments are prepared by Miss Ann Brock of Oceana.

New Staff Member At USO

Miss Anne Wolfe, for the past year and a half directing USO work at Morganfield, Kentucky, arrived last week to join the USO staff at Virginia Beach. She succeeds Mrs. Jeanne Carpenter, transferred to the club at Baltimore, Md.

Miss Wolfe received her training at Oakwood Finishing School, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Vassar College and Columbia University. Following her studies she engaged in social work for ten years at the well known Hudson Guild in New York City, filling in with summer work for underprivileged children at Camp Felicia, Mount-Airville, N. Y.

The new assistant director of the Virginia Beach club has expressed delight at her appointment here. She believes the club's facilities and the participation in the work by local groups are outstanding.

An added item making Miss Wolfe feel at home here is the fact that her brother, Ens. Thompson G. Wolfe, is stationed nearby at Little Creek Amphibious Base. Another brother, John, is serving with the U. S. Army in India.

General Assembly Has 50 New Members

Four Republicans Among Number

RICHMOND, Va. - With the nine Senatorial, and twelve House of Delegates contests now settled and the last ballot counted, the 1944 General Assembly of Virginia can now close its ranks and get down to business, complete with fifty new members, fifteen in the Senate and thirty-five in the House.

In spite of Democratic-Republican jousts in the Southwest the results from the General election show that of a total of 146 members of the General Assembly only four are Republicans, one in the Senate and three in the House, or a total of one less than for the 1942 session of the Assembly.

Three members of the House have exchanged their seats for others in the Senate halls - Edward L. Breeden Jr. of Norfolk, House member since 1936 succeeds the veteran Senator Vivian L. Page as one of the two representatives of the Second Senatorial District.

The 1944 General Assembly will be confronted with many problems to solve, but before they must do this, they will be familiar with them all as Governor Darden has announced he will confer with every member of the General Assembly before the first of the year to acquaint them with the problems of State and to secure their ideas on what should be done.

War-Time TELEPHONE TIPS

Now that telephone materials have gone to war, we must get along with the facilities we have until a happier day. By using these facilities to the best advantage, you can help keep service good for everyone, including yourself. Try following these simple rules:-

1. Be sure you have the right number before placing a call. Consult your directory.
2. Answer all calls as promptly as possible.
3. If you're on a party line, apply the Golden Rule to your use of the line.
4. Don't ask "Information" for numbers that are listed in the directory.
5. Hang up carefully after each call. Don't let a book, or other object, hold the receiver off the hook.
6. Take good care of the telephone instrument and cord in your home and office. They're made of scarce and critical materials.

Preserve the tart, juicy apples for winter by drying them. Good cooking apples make good drying apples. First wash thoroughly then pare, quarter, core and cut in 1/4-in. slices. Then steam them (a colander in a large saucepan which can be tightly covered is good) for about 30 minutes. Now spread the slices, which are soft and hot, out on trays of rust-proof wire screening or on cheesecloth and place them immediately in the hot sun. A covering of cheesecloth will protect them from insects and dust. Leave till they are tough and leathery feeling when squeezed, bringing them in at night out of the dew. When ready, store in tin cans, glass or cartons that will keep them dry and from insects. When you are ready to use the dry apples, soak them in water and then cook as fresh apples. The resulting flavor is almost the natural, fresh one.

WFA RELEASES CANNED FOODS

Approximately 2,700,000 cases of canned peaches, peas, and tomato catsup were released to consumers recently by the War Food Administration. The canned goods probably will not reach retail shelves for several weeks. These foods were a portion of the reserves owned and held by canners to meet possible emergency requirements of the government.

The HEADLINES Say

Tough Day - Gals are doing their bit on the home front by producing companionship to lend a hand in a war win, according to Mrs. Elsie Collins, manager of the Brooklyn-Long Island Cat Club show.

A MILLION coupons, collected from wrappers of Octagon Soap and other products, purchased this $5,000 Blood Donor Unit, which is capable of obtaining 1,000 blood donations a week. Mrs. J. Howard McKay, shown above, of the Pennsylvania American Legion Auxiliary, led the drive. Receiving the vehicle for the American Red Cross is Charles W. Crist. Redemption of coupons for cash is made possible through the Octagon Church Plan which enables churches, charitable or educational groups to further their humane work.

IF THE PANTS FIT, PUT 'EM ON - Moses Lake, Wash. - Staff Sgt. John W. Thomas (left) will have to do a lot of eating to fill out the pants given him by a myopic clerk when he entered the Army. The sergeant was assured that the pants would shrink to his size after the first washing.

THANKSGIVING BIRDS FOR OVERSEAS - Berlin, N. Y. - Here two turkey legs put their wings together, in view of the future. They agree the main thing is to keep their heads.

BEACH RESIDENTS ASKED TO ENLIST ROOMS IN WAR EFFORT

A strong appeal is being made by the USO Clubs at Virginia Beach to enlist in the war service of the country every room available for sleeping accommodations. Recent week ends have found servicemen and their families stranded at the beach without overnight accommodations. These facts were made known today by Edward J. Kelly, director, as he opened a campaign to register any sleeping accommodations available at the beach.

The form given below is being sent to householders in the Virginia Beach area. It is the hope of Mr. Kelly that those who have not been reached by the mail campaign will clip this form from the paper and turn it in to the club.

In opening the campaign Mr. Kelly stressed the patriotic service householders could render the nation's defenders by giving them overnight or weekly accommodations.

INCREASE CIVILIAN FOOD SUPPLY

More peas, beans, rice and cheddar cheese are going to be available for civilian consumption. Supplies have been increased by the removal or reduction of government set-asides orders. Present conditions indicate there will be enough dry beans to provide about 10.4 pounds per capita for civilian consumption in the 1943-44 marketing season, compared to 8.6 pounds in 1942-43.

RATION-FREE CHILDREN'S SHOES

Some relief from the shortage of youngsters' shoes will be provided about the first of the year by a new supply of children's non-leather shoes for general wear, to be sold ration-free, OPA has announced. In general, children up to about eight years of age will benefit. The shoes will have canvas uppers and soles made from remnants and heavy woven fabric, reinforced with vulcanized rubber. Shoes of this type larger than misses' and youths' size three will be rationed.

VALIDITY DATES FOR BROWN STAMPS

OPA has announced dates when four more sets of brown stamps in Book 3 will be good for buying rationed meats and fats. With expiration dates they are: L-16 points, valid Nov. 21; expires Jan. 1. M-16 points, valid Nov. 28; expires Jan. 1. N-16 points, valid Dec. 5; expires Jan. 1. P-16 points, valid Dec. 12; expires Jan. 1.

SIMPLIFY GAS RATIONING

All "B" and "C" gasoline coupons issued after December 1 will be worth five gallons each, compared with the present value of two gallons for coupons of those types in the East and Midwest and three gallons in the West. This means "B" and "C" books will contain fewer coupons than in the past, but each coupon will be good for more gallons than before. No increase in the amount of gasoline allowed is involved.

FERTILIZER OUTLOOK

American farmers will have more nitrogen and slightly less potash in the 1943-44 "fertilizer year" than they had in the previous year, according to testimony of WPB officials before a senate sub-committee on agriculture and forestry. Farmers should have four tons of nitrogen for every three they had last year, according to present indications. WPB is endeavoring to make additional quantities of potash available for agriculture in 1944-45.

W. A. C. Drive to Be Conducted

Solicitation Throughout County for Recruits

Plans are in progress for an intensive campaign to recruit women for the Women's Army Corps from Princess Anne county. Virginia Beach, Pungo, Creeds and East Ocean View will be canvassed for recruits. Corporal Clark from the Norfolk office spent Friday and Saturday at the Beach making contacts with possible enlistees.

Mayor W. W. Elliott and Russell Hatchett, town treasurer, head the committee in charge of recruiting. A booth was set up in the lobby of the Bayne Theatre Friday and Saturday for the purpose of giving out information and enlisting any one interested in volunteering for service. It is understood that plans have been made for a more personal canvass of the county in an endeavor to interest more young women in this branch of our armed forces. The need for WAC's is great and it is open to all women between the ages of 20 and 50. The pay scale is comparable to the army.

THREE WEEKS LEFT FOR XMAS MAILING

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Every year around Christmas time a familiar plea is made to "ship Early, mail Early." Last year many of us who did our shopping and mailing at the last minute learned that our gifts and cards were not delivered until way after Christmas.

This year storekeepers from nearly every city and large town in the country had their buyers in the big central markets as early as May to be sure that their suppliers could "deliver the goods" for Christmas. Now, they've got the merchandise and they've joined the campaign—not to sell more, but to assure their own customers that gifts won't be caught in a last-minute transportation and manpower bottleneck. Besides, they are able to give the early shoppers the benefit of large and new assortments.

The post office has set a deadline—Dec. 10—before which last-minute gifts must be mailed to guarantee delivery by Dec. 25.

Gunn, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Norfolk, was re-elected vice president, and Charles Field, III, of Virginia Beach was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The Norfolk Clericus includes the Episcopal clergy of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Suffolk, Berkeley, the Peninsula, and Princess Anne County. Mr. Lines' Successor the Rev. Frederick Jackson, rector of St. John's Church, Portsmouth.

REV. E. T. THOMPSON TO PREACH TUESDAY

The Rev. Ernest T. Thompson, D. D., professor at Union Theological Seminary, will preach at the Virginia Beach Presbyterian church at the service on Sunday morning, November 21.

National War Fund Serves Seventeen Causes

Campaign in Princess Anne County Dec. 1st to 15th

Quota to Be Raised $10,000

The National War Fund is serving 17 causes and agencies. With the joining of all these worthwhile causes, a single united campaign is made possible for every city, town and hamlet in the country, and for the participation of families in the scattered rural areas as well.

Through its national and international affiliates the War Fund is the magic carpet which will reach every spot in the world where the need is greatest.

Places Your Contribution Will Reach

More than 5,000,000 men and women of our fighting forces look to the U.S.O. each month for off-duty recreation, comforts and spiritual welfare.

Thousands of merchant seamen who bring convoys through find needed rest and relaxation in homes and centers operated by the United Seamen's Service in cooperation with the War Shipping Administration in ports in two hemispheres of the world.

More than 6,000,000 men are in the "barbed wire legion," prisoners of war.

Scattered all over the world are 30,000,000 refugees from Axis terrorists. Between 5,000,000 and 7,000,000 Chinese people are facing starvation. Of the Greek children born since 1940, less than one in twenty is alive today due to the starvation conditions. Approximately 40,000,000 Russians have had to evacuate their homes. More than 2,000 child victims of war have been evacuated to this country for care and protection.

These are just some of the needs which will be reached by your contribution to the National War Fund which will get under way December 1 in Princess Anne County.

This is OUR war! Our men are in it—at the front or on the way there. Our money is in it—war bonds, stamps, taxes. Our sacrifice is in it—rationing, scarcities, priorities.

WE CAN give more and we WILL give more by contributing to the National War Fund when called upon to help raise the quota of $10,000.

The finest CHRISTMAS present you can give is one of Uncle Sam's WAR BONDS. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

Hunting Season Open Nov. 20 to Jan. 20

Game Reported Plentiful in All Sections

175 Wild Turkeys Released in Western Part of State

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 19 — While the waterfowl hunters are now having their inning, the upland game hunters are fully aware of the fact that the general hunting season in Virginia opens November 20. This is the season for quail, rabbits, grouse, turkeys and deer, and in many localities the second part of the squirrel season opens.

In virtually all of the eastern counties the season runs from November 20 to January 20; west of the Blue Ridge, the season closes January 5. In all categories there are exceptions, and hunters should ask their game wardens or write to the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries for the newly-published digest of the game laws.

Reports from various sections of the State are to the effect that game of all kinds is plentiful, with a splendid hunting season in prospect except for the general shortage of ammunition. This shortage is particularly acute among the country people, the ones who need it most. As a rule the regular hunters have provided themselves.

Bag limits remain pretty much the same that they were last year: 10 quail a day, 125 for the season; six rabbits a day, 75 for the season (with certain exceptions); two turkeys, four for the season; and one deer with horns visible two inches above the hair, with certain exceptions also in the case of deer.

The new federal regulation is that you can start shooting ducks (Continued on page four)

The text of the Governor's Thanksgiving Day Proclamation is as follows: "We are again approaching that season of the year which, from ancient times has been set aside by us as a day of prayer and Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings which we have received during the year."

"The dark and ominous clouds which pressed down upon us all a year ago have begun to break. Here and there the piercing rays of the sun are showing plainly through the shadows. Armed and prepared we are now carrying the war to our enemies. Italy has fallen, Japan is being turned back and Germany's armies are in retreat. The war is not won but the tide has turned and, steadfast with our Allies, we march toward victory—and with them we plan a world order for the maintenance of peace. Certainly we have much for which to be thankful."

You can eat your cake and have it, too—if you invest your CHRISTMAS savings in WAR BONDS. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

Christmas Seals to Be Mailed Nov. 22

Goal for Princess Anne County $2,253.00

The Virginia Tuberculosis Association launches its 1943 Seal Sale on November 22 and this sale will continue until Christmas. Many thousands of these seals will be placed in the mail for distribution.

The goal set for Princess Anne County is $2,253.00, which amount will average 8c per person among the 28,966 residents of the county.

Tuberculosis is still the first cause of death rate between the ages of 15 and 45, and Princess Anne County's death rate is the third highest in this section of the state with a present 53 known active cases and 33 suspicious cases living in daily contact with 380 persons.

There is a desperate need for 1892 more beds in the three state sanatoria in Virginia. However, over 50% of the total amount raised by the Seal Sale in Princess Anne County will be kept for use in the county.

1943 Committee Members

Mrs. Rufus Parks is general chairman for Princess Anne County and the following members are serving on the various committees with Mrs. Parks: Mrs. Parks, chairman; Mrs. E. C. Turner, seal sale chairman; Mrs. Francis Gray, secretary; Mrs. C. Turner, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Barr, educational chairman; Frank Cox, schools; Miss Louise Lufford, schools; Mrs. Helen Reed, welfare department; Miss Lillian Ashby, nurse; Mrs. Helen Woodall Foster, nurse; Mrs. Stuart Johns, publicity.

The Main Facts

"The first and greatest need is education"—with these words, Edward Livingston Trudeau, the first president of the National Tuberculosis Association, laid out the campaign against tuberculosis in this country. He predicted that to familiarize ones self with facts relating to the manner in which tuberculosis is communicated would reduce the death rate and prevent the spread of the dread disease.

SHARING THANKSGIVING

Some one has said that the ones who are most truly thankful are they who have most freely given. We suspect that there is a lot of truth in the saying. Indeed, we doubt whether the man who never gives is ever thankful at all. If he feels no obligation to share what he has with others, he must think that what he has is all his own, and so has only himself to thank for it. Which is not the kind of thankfulness we are thinking of.

Outside, as we write, a warm and mellow sunshine is flooding the land. Here it lies richly upon a patch of flaming scarlet, and there it lingers more softly upon a bit of yellow. Now a clump in blue is creeping into the afternoon shadows, but yonder sturdier flowers in white and pink will glory themselves for hours longer. And all around, the oaks and elms and maples, that have been content with simple greens, are beginning to make America the beautiful land that it is. The theme of song and story, the theme beyond, as far as the imagination can carry, the largesse of some One's bountiful hand has written into field and valley, into orchard and waving grain, the message, "Here is plenty: share and enjoy!"

Our share in the creation of all this—beauty for the soul, sustenance and clothing for the body—has been only a minor one. True, men and women till the soil and gave the seeds a chance, but there their part ended. The sun and the wind and the rain, daylight and darkness, which we can not control, the fertility of the soil, which we can only in part control—these are the allies of the harvest, whatever that harvest may be. These are the things that are shared with us; these are the things—with life and love and home and friends and country—for which we should be truly thankful.

As God shares with us, so we should share with others. No man alone makes that which he calls his. No man is entitled to the sole use of that which he calls his. But no man should feel a compulsion to give; he should want to share. If he has any doubt about this, let him ask himself where he would be without the cooperation of others, where the crops would be without the cooperation of God. To some the statement may seem unsound, the reasoning upon which it is based fallacious, but others will know that we are right when we say that there can be no real happiness in getting unless what one gets is shared with others.

So now to our Thanksgiving. May there be no bare table in all the land, but such a feast spread on every one that all who gather round it may be happy. And it will be so only a little from now and a little from yours find their way there. Out of that bit of kindness will come happiness, and thanksgiving, for us all. The 1943 Mobilization for Human Needs, the U. S. O. and 16 other agencies are looking to you for contributions to help them in the good work that they are doing. Individually, and in this time of great need, there is a beautiful chance for us all to share our Thanksgiving and carry that happiness which comes

AMERICAN IDEALISM

By Ruth Taylor

"Men fight best with ideas at the end of their bayonets," Spigars said. He was right. When the ideas of men are the ideals of men, then they become a conquering army, an invincible host. Idealism is not an empty word. It is a reality. Only as we look upward, only as we climb upward together, can we permanently realize any of our hopes of a better way of life for ourselves as individuals, or for ourselves as a United States in a world of United Nations.

Our nation was formed by people of diverse nationalities and traditions drawn together by a belief in the basic ideal of freedom and equality for all. Today as a nation we have expressed this ideal in the Four Freedoms. These freedoms are not for one group, or for one class, or for one creed, or for one color. They are for all the peoples of all the earth. And it is through the practical application of these ideals that we will win not only the war but the peace to come.

Go back over the history of our nation. When ideals have been ignored, disaster has threatened. When ideals have been adhered to, the nation has grown. It was the idealism of freedom that founded America. It was the idealism of the home that settled it. It was the ideal of the sanctity of man that shaped it. It was the idealism of understanding that gathered to it all the best of different groups and different faiths and made it the greatest nation on earth.

The cornerstone of this nation is the acceptance of the agreement that we men of different backgrounds and faiths will work together for the good of all. We have a traditional ideal of brotherhood, regardless of class, creed or color. We have taken on the responsibilities of unity, the acceptance of the burdens of others, the will to work with and for our fellow men.

Turning from a philosopher of the past to a columnist of the present, Walter Lippmann said, "When we pass the assumption, let us not deny the Lord. Let us not in the name of reason deny the realities and fall into the heresy of believing that our morality is incompatible with our practical necessities. It is not. There is no such horrid dilemma and the events will show there is none."

We are a nation of idealists. Let us not overlook the ideal, which, cynics to the contrary, motivates us. In every emergency in our history it has been the force which has controlled our actions.

NOVEMBER

November is cold rains and raw evenings and bright, crisp days and a few fugitive snatches of Indian summer. It is brown and leaves fluttering in the sunlight, which slants from far to the south. It is bluejays screaming and juncos twittering and a swift, silent flight of teal heading in downward in the early dawn. It is crisp frost in the dawn.

November is a hearth fire and apple cider and pumpkin pie with plenty of spice in its brown goodness. It is toposet and gloves and a muffler under the chin. It is storm doors and storm sash and an ice fringe along the eaves.

It is chowder and pea soup and chile and Irish stew, with lots of potatoes to make up for the shortage of meat.

November is rubbers and galoshes and umbrellas, and mitties. It is ashes from the furnace—maybe. It is a busy buckwax, for the country man. It is election, orderly and democratic. It is Armistice Day, when we remember another war with the goose-steppers. It is Thanksgiving.

November, last evening of the year.—New York Times.

CERAMIC STOVE MODEL

BUILT

The first ceramic cooking stove model to be built in the U. S. is recently demonstrated at the National Bureau of Standards. The stove contains only 80 pounds of metal, mostly cast iron. The pre-war all-metal model which it supplants weighed 1,885 pounds. The ceramic stove is designed to be heated with anthracite or coke. It used only about 10 pounds of fuel in 24 hours and if it is fired every 12 hours, it will be ready for use at any time. It is expected that the first ceramic cooking stoves will reach the market around the first of the year. The purchase price has not been determined yet, but it presumably will be lower than that of the all-metal cook.

NATIONAL NEWS OF NOTE

WE NEVER HEARD ANYTHING LIKE THIS

Donald Nelson, head of war production, has returned from his trip to Russia and he gives out the news that Stalin told him that the Soviet government is going to repay all of the lend lease that it has received from the United States. None of the other co-partners in this war have ever talked like that.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Continued controversy in the coal mines still threatens coal production. Strikes, the one contingency which the mine operators themselves admit can cause a coal shortage, are now occurring for the third time within the year.

If, as the grip of winter tightens, and as more American men fall overseas, war production is endangered by lack of coal, the people are going to want to know who is to blame for the unnecessary coal shortage. There are three possible culprits: labor, government, or the mine operators.

The blame can hardly be placed on the operators and owners of the coal mines, because under the existing wartime "car" system built up in government, they do as they are told even to the extent of handing their properties over to the government.

Labor, however, has proved more than once that it can dictate to government in the matter of coal production. Therefore, government authorities, who have total control of the coal mines and labor, must assume responsibility for mine closings. This becomes more evident each day.

"When government puts your money into business, then government takes control. Remember that government has no capital of its own. When it puts money into a partnership, it takes that money in taxes from the sweat of labor."—Edward Martin, Governor of Pennsylvania.

THE OPA PROGRESSES—BACKWARD

"A sharp recently emitted by the OPA with intent to shame complainers about rationing," says the Portland Oregonian, "tells us that our forefathers did without sugar until the thirteenth century, without buttered bread until the fifteenth, without potatoes until the sixteenth, without coffee, tea and soap until the seventeenth, without gas, matches and electricity until the nineteenth. A common comment on this record is that our forefathers also did without the OPA."

Our forefathers also did without false teeth, safety razors, patent toffies, and thousands of articles too numerous to mention. They didn't have department stores, chain stores, milk in bottles, canned food or bath tubs.

Eddie Rickenbacker and his companions starved on a raft for nearly a month and still lived to tell the tale. But is that any parallel we should seek? If our national economy has created shortages, at a time when supplies are needed, we can do without as our forefathers did if necessary.

Our planning and energies, however, should be directed toward increased production and progress, the constant aim of our forefathers.

FACT, NOT FICTION

One of the points stressed by the five senators who visited the world's battlefronts last summer was the fact that the United States furnishes most of the oil for the fighting machines of the United States. To fill these war requirements, oil for our own domestic needs has been sacrificed. Either we must discover and produce more oil in this country or our domestic or war needs will suffer dangerously.

The decision is not left to the oil industry. The increased cost of "wildcatting" runs headlong into the elaborate anti-inflation schemes of government agencies which decide whether inelastic price fixing rules are more precious than oil. But our motorized nation cannot run on low price petroleum gasoline.

The oil industry has asked for a very modest increase in the price of crude oil which would mean an increase in the price of a gallon of gasoline of about one penny. There is little question as to the choice which would be made by gasoline starved motorists and cold home owners if they were given the opportunity to choose. Of course even a penny increase in the price of gasoline would admittedly launch the line against inflation—if there is a line to watch.

PREPARE POSTWAR TAXATION POLICY NOW

Of the domestic postwar problems there is none more important than that of taxation and government expenditures. With a Federal postwar debt of probably $300,000,000,000, and interest charges of some $4,000,000,000 a year, it is imperative that all other expenditures of government be limited and that a sound policy of taxation be adopted.

No tax policy can succeed which ignores the fact that the all-important thing is to increase the national income and at the same time expand the country's total wealth and productive capacity.

Failure on the part of our lawmakers to recognize this fundamental truth will lead to the destruction of private enterprise and substitution of some form of national socialism.

Recognizing this danger, a movement is now under way in the 48 states to secure an amendment to the Federal constitution limiting the power of Congress in peacetime to impose taxes on incomes, inheritances and gifts, to a maximum of 25 per cent. Fifteen states have already passed resolutions requesting Congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing such an amendment. Supporters of the measure emphasize that Congress should no more have unlimited power over one's property than over his person; for, in the language of Chief Justice Marshall, "The power to tax involves the power to destroy."

SINGED WINGS

The people of the United States have been flying so close to the subliminal candle that some of them have had their wings badly scorched. They have been obsessed with the idea that they could get something for nothing by having the government furnish it. As a result, they are loaded with taxes to pay for "gifts" and government debts.

At last they are awakening to the fact that taxing private industry is more beneficial to the nation than tax-exempt government projects which must be paid for by taxes taken from the people. In speeches, newspaper editorials, radio talks and advertising copy of many industries, there is outspoken sentiment that the nation must go forward on the solid foundation of private initiative and enterprise which built it.

Recognizing the singed wings warning, Eric A. Johnston of Kansas, President of the United States Chamber of Commerce, recently said: "There is some danger of America becoming totalitarian. Of course it would come under a form different than we understand it now. Unless that danger is averted, the peace of the world is endangered. Too much power should never be placed in the hands of government. We shouldn't tell the whole world that we preside at the liquidation of the American way of life."

It's worth getting our wings singed if it teaches us to keep from the fire.

"The American people respond better to a statement of the under the word 'please' and 'serve' than they do under the word 'enforced'."—Herbert Hoover.

Women and the War

Women of the United Nations have responded to the state of war with unwavering gallantry all over the world.

Chinese women tend the wounded on the fields of battle. Russian girls fight and work alongside their men folk, and English women proved their valor under fire when their cities were bombed.

Misses in America

In America, women have volunteered for hospital and other emergency services, and for the women's auxiliary branches of the armed forces. Many more are needed.

Several millions, too, have gone into war industries to lend their manual dexterity, thoroughness, and skill to the man-sized job of making the weapons of war.

All this has put an unaccustomed strain upon the patriotic women who have undertaken this wartime work.

"Honeymoon" Now Over

For American women in industry the "honeymoon" stage is almost over. From now on there will be more grit than glamour for them in their wartime jobs.

Many women, after several months in their new occupations, are finding that the unaccustomed activity of a regular job, plus wartime conditions in general, are making it necessary for them to plan their work-week carefully in order to avoid too great fatigue.

Industry Is Concerned

Recognizing this factor from the start, industry has done much to protect the health and well-being of the woman worker.

Working conditions everywhere have been improved to make the industrial environment as home-like and congenial as possible. Pleasant retiring rooms have been especially constructed, in many cases provided with recreational facilities, for women employees.

Work has been carefully re-planned so that Miss and Mrs. America doing war work will have a minimum of lifting, standing, and other fatiguing work. Attractive uniforms have been made available, and shopping and other services have been arranged for their convenience.

Outcome Up to Women

Industry can and does make working conditions pleasant and convenient—but this will be of little avail if the woman doing her bit on the production front fails to plan effectively for the safeguarding of her health.

Here are eight suggestions in the form of a Blueprint for Feminine Health in Wartime. It applies to all women on the home front in time of war:

- (1) Eat the right foods for health; (2) Drink plenty of water; (3) Get plenty of off-duty fresh air and sunshine; (4) Get enough sleep; (5) Get sufficient exercise; (6) Get plenty of recreation; (7) Be moderate in all things; and (8) See your doctor occasionally for a physical check-up.

PRAY FOR THE BEREAVED

In wartime, Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of the Episcopal Church believes that people should pray regularly and continuously for those bereaved. He suggests the following prayer for use by anyone in private devotion, or for use in Episcopal Churches if the form is authorized by the diocesan bishop.

"Almighty God, who didst offer Thine only Son to be made perfect through suffering, and to win our salvation by enduring the cross; sustain with Thy healing power all those whose loved ones have given their lives in the service of our country. Redeem, we pray Thee, the pain of their believement, that knowing their loss to be the price of our freedom, they may remember the gratitude of the nation for which they gave so costly a sacrifice. And grant, O Lord, that we may highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, and that of the agony of the present hour there may arise a new and better world in which Thy will shall rule, to the honor of Thy Son our Saviour, Jesus Christ—Amen."

PARTY LINES are PATRIOTIC LINES

The copper that used to go into new telephone lines is now going into war weapons. This means we must make the most of the lines we now have.

Thus, party lines become a part of the all-out war effort—they take on a new name—PATRIOTIC LINES.

You will find that "Patriotic-line" telephone service is good telephone service. All users will follow these simple rules:

1. If another is using the line, hang up gently and wait a reasonable time before trying again.
2. Make way for your neighbor by being as brief as you can on your calls.
3. Avoid making a number of calls in succession.
4. Replace the receiver carefully after each call so as not to prevent others from using the line.

Virginia Beach Boy Somewhere with British Army Unit in India
Somewhere in the hill country of India, John M. Nicholson, Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson of 3701 Atlantic Avenue, Virginia Beach, today is chugging along on his motorcycle, bound on some errand for the British Army unit to which he is attached as a member of the American Field Service, a privately sponsored organization.

Nicholson's presence as a member of the organization came to light recently via an Associated Press dispatch from New Delhi by Correspondent Thornburn Wiant, who listed the Virginia Beach man among "interesting people" he had met in the AFS.

Formed during World War I, the AFS was revived in this conflict and its members are volunteers who were not accepted for duty in the armed forces, but who are proving, as Wiant says, "that they can go to the wars, too—and be mighty useful." The AFS men drive ambulances, serve as stretcherbearers, administer first aid. They know what to do when motors get out of whack, too.

Nicholson, one of two Virginians in the some 50 members of the AFS in the New Delhi theatre, went overseas in a Red Cross ship April 29, arriving in India the latter part of July. Another local man, C. James Andrews, Jr., of Dr. and Mrs. Andrews, of 929 Graydon Avenue, Norfolk, is with the AFS in the Near East.

A medical discharge from the Army, which he got in November, 1942, thwarted Nicholson's ambition to be an Army pilot. But it didn't stop his yearning for adventure as he probably yearned earlier while at Maury and Oceana. He joined the AFS in February this year and started going places and seeing things.

As volunteers, neither Nicholson nor Andrews will get rich. Wiant writes: "They receive only 65 rupees and 14 annas a month, or about $20. Each man equipped himself out of his own pocket at a cost of $200."

Then in Nicholson's AFS group range in age from 18 to 54. "Eighty per cent were physically unfit or otherwise ineligible to serve with the armed forces. Forty-six were classified 4-F before they volunteered. Twelve received discharges from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Air Force, because of physical disabilities. Eleven were over the draft age," Wiant wrote.

The correspondent said four have only one eye, one has an artificial leg, two suffer from thrombosis, and one has a punctured eardrum, adding they aren't physical wrecks and "can take just about anything."

Care Urged To Prevent Forest Fires

Hunters Asked to Observe Safety Rules

"Hunters can quickly wear out the welcome of the property owner if they carelessly cause a forest fire which burns over the land on which they are hunting," State Forester F. C. Pederson said recently at his office in Charlottesville. No property owner wants his land burned over. In addition to damage sustained by young trees, fall forest fires burn the weeds and weed seeds which provide winter food and cover for the game. Hunters who cause fires are destroying the very sport they are out to enjoy, it was pointed out.

State Forester Pederson said that the Game and Fish Department and the Virginia Forest Service were both issuing this special appeal to all hunters to use extreme caution with fire while in the fields and woods during the coming hunting season. The State Forester urged all hunters to observe the following safety rules:

1. While traveling, use the ash tray of your car.
2. Be sure your match is out—break it in two.
3. Snuff out your cigarette, cigar stub or pipe ashes, on the butt of your gun, your shoe sole or in damp mineral earth.
4. Clear a wide space free from leaves before building a camp or warming fire—put it dead out with water or damp earth before leaving.
5. Do not set fire to a log or a tree to smoke out game—fire will probably spread to woods.

The State Conservation official said he believed that "Fewer forest fires will mean more game and continued good will between the hunter and landowner."

CUT-A-CORD OF PULPWOOD TODAY

The shortage in pulp wood has become so acute that November and December have been designated for a special drive to cut more pulpwood. Because of the urgent appeal made by the War Production Board, the Under-Secretary of War and other officials of the Army, Navy and Marines, "every effort possible is being made to stimulate this drive. 'Cut a Cord of Pulp Wood for Every Local Boy in Service,' is the slogan adopted for the drive.

Farmers are in a position to aid in this endeavor as most of the harvesting and other fall work is out of the way at this time.

One tree will make 938 sheets of blueprint, paper (22x34) for field maps and war material designs; 13 weather-proof shipping containers of 30 lb. capacity; 137 hospital waddings for emergency field operations.

Cut an extra cord of Pulp wood today!

Farmers Must File Tax Returns By December 15

Forms May Be Had Upon Request to Collector's Office

The attention of all farmers was called today to the requirement under the Current Tax Payment Act of 1943 that an estimated 1943 income tax return must be filed on or before December 15, 1943.

N. B. Early, Jr., Collector of Internal Revenue for the Virginia District, said that under the present law all individuals are being placed on a current basis in the payment of their Federal income tax.

In the case of married employees this is done by the employer withholding the income and paying tax from salaries paid. No tax is withheld from other types of income such as rents, interest, income from business, farming, etc.

Therefore, in order for people who have income other than salaries to become current it is necessary that an estimate be made in advance of the income for the year. This return must be filed by March 15th of each year by all taxpayers except farmers. Under special rule, farmers do not have to file their estimated return until December 15th of each year.

Mr. Early pointed out that under the victory tax law farmers having a net profit from their operation of the farm of $24.00 are required to file a return even though married and having dependents. Single farmers are required to file if their income amounts to $500.00.

The estimated tax must be sixty-six and two-thirds per cent correct in order to avoid a penalty for underestimation. Other penalties are ten per cent for failure to file a return and two and one-half per cent for failure to pay the tax when due. The tax shown on the estimated return filed December 15th must be paid in full at that time.

The filing of the return in December does not eliminate the filing of a regular exact return on or before March 15th, 1944. Mr. Early added, since the December return is an estimate and corrections are in order after the close of the year.

This return does not require any details of income and deductions but is simply based on the farmer's estimate of his net profits. Form 1040-ES is the proper form to be used in December. This form has been mailed to all taxpayers who filed a return for 1942 and no more will be mailed except on request. The form may be obtained from any Collector's office.

DUCK FEATHERS VALUABLE TO WAR EFFORT

The duck season has gotten underway and in spite of mild weather some hunters have succeeded in bagging their limit each day. Word has come from Ducks Unlimited in Canada that more wild fowl than ever may be expected this season, so with any break in the weather the trip to duck blinds should be a big success for sportsmen.

Glenn L. Martin, aviation authority, calls upon American sportsmen to "regard as their duty" participation in the campaign.

page of Ducks Unlimited to make the down and small feathers of all wild ducks and geese bagged during the hunting season available to the war effort.

"Most suitable substitute" for commercial eider down, imports of which have been halted by the war, this material is vitally needed to insulate high-altitude flying suits for our air forces who must be protected from the paralyzing cold of the upper airwaves. "Experts tell us the annual waterfowl bag will provide enough of this critical material to insulate 300,000 flying suits, and in addition it will make the suits buoyant enough to keep wearers afloat in water for 24 hours. Legal duck hunters alone can supply this vital need."

Donations, Mr. Martin added, may be deposited with cooperating sporting goods dealers, who have established feather collecting stations throughout the country for convenient bulk shipments. Or they may be sent direct to Ducks Unlimited, 83 Columbia Street, Seattle, Washington, transportation charges collect. Name and address of the donor and "waterfowl feathers" should be written on the package.

Wild Turkeys Released

With 175 wild turkeys already distributed and 75 more still to be released, there is a fine showing for the turkey-rearing project in Virginia for this year. Of the remaining 75, to be released in the next two or three weeks, perhaps 15 will be retained to add to the brood stock. Last year only 124 birds were put out all told.

All of these turkeys raised in captivity are conceded to be of about the finest strain in North America, and all have been produced through the method of mating hens in captivity with gobblers in their native state at the Cumberland Turkey Farm. "Despite existing difficulties, we intend to increase the brood stock this year," H. J. Tuttle, superintendent of game of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries said. Next year it is intended to release a minimum of 600, with the total running probably one or two hundred higher.

Town and Farm In Wartime

TEMPORARY FOOD RATIONS
Service men on leave can get temporary food rations without the forms usually furnished by the armed services, according to OPA. In an emergency, application may be made on forms available at local ration boards.

FARMERS TO GET BATTERIES
Approximately 267 of the fourth quarter production of flashlight batteries will be distributed to farmers, according to WFB. This makes enough batteries for about normal rural consumption available through farm outlets.

CUT NEW CAR QUOTA
Only 20,000 new passenger automobiles have been released for rationing during November, OPA has announced. This is the lowest figure since rationing began and represents a reduction of nearly 25 per cent from the October quota of 30,000.

MORE HOSTILITY FOR CHILDREN
Production of infants' and children's hostility will be stepped up shortly as a result of priority assistance given to manufacturers for procurement of necessary yarn. The WFB action resulted from a falling supply of infants' and children's stockings.

REDUCE CHRISTMAS LIGHTING
The American people have been asked by the Office of War Utilities to confine Christmas lighting decorations to Christmas trees inside private homes. Saving of electricity will mean direct savings of fuel, manpower, transportation and materials.

MOVIES FOR AMERICAN TROOPS
The U. S. Army is well on its way to having motion picture equipment everywhere in the world that it is needed by its troops. Movies are shown 125 times daily for U. S. troops in Aleutian outposts, according to the War Department. There are 63 projectors on the island chain, one on each occupied island. A continual flow of films has been shown during the past five months.

ARMY SAVES ON FOOD BILL
A saving of 1 1/2 cents per person per meal might seem trivial to a housewife feeding a family of four, but in an infantry division of 15,000 men it adds up to a striking total. In one division $33,787.25 was saved over a five-month period by food conservation measures, the War Department declared recently.

SCRAP DRIVE TO CONTINUE
The "Victory Scrap Bank" Drive, scheduled to end November 15, has been continued indefinitely. H. M. Paul, director of the Salvage Division of WFB said: "As long as the war lasts, there will be a continuing need for iron and steel scrap to keep the mills well supplied. The collection of iron and steel scrap from all sources must be a continuing operation."

HOW TO ADDRESS MERCHANT SEAMEN

Because letters from home are as big a factor in maintaining morale of merchant ship crews as they are with soldiers, bluejackets and marines, the War Shipping Administration has relaxed regulations to speed movement of mail. A seaman in a foreign port may advise his family and friends how to address mail to him by including the name of his ship in the letters enclosed in envelopes, but not on outside envelopes. To address a seaman, this form should be used: first line, seaman's name; second, name of his ship; third, "Care of Postmaster"; and fourth, New York, New Orleans, or San Francisco, according to the coast from which the addressee sails. Return address should appear in upper left corner, and name of steamship line in lower left corner.

Oliver Brown Wins Highest Scout Award

County-wide Rally And Honor Court Held at Ocean

A county-wide Scout Rally was held at the Oceana High School on Friday evening, November 15. All troops of Princess Anne County were represented and awards of merit given.

Oliver Brown, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Oliver Brown of 22nd Street, attained the first award of Eagle Scout, the first to have won this honor in Princess Anne County. Scout Brown served as junior staff assistant at Camp Darden last summer and is a member of troop No. 66 of Virginia Beach.

The "Scoutoree," with approximately 360 scouts, parents and interested friends in attendance, was presided over by Herbert J. Wilkins, assistant scout executive of the Tidewater Council of Boy Scouts of America. DeWoon King, scout commissioner of Princess Anne County district, acted as Chief Judge for contests and awards assisted by S. B. Myers, McKenney Pearce, Ray Jackson, Maj. William A. Francis, Chester Shaffer and H. W. Chaffee.

Awards Received
Nine patrols participated in the contest for awards with the Best Patrol of 61, Fort Story and Fox Patrol of troop 65, London Bridge, earning the highest "Proficient Rating," and five of the seven remaining troops earning "Standard Rating."

Ray Jackson, District Advancement chairman, presided over the Honor Court and presented the following awards:

Eagle Scout—Oliver Brown.

First Class Awards—Thomas Lee Brooks III, Dabert Cashman and Ralph Mooney of troop 62, Oceana.

Plum Class Merit Badges—Wilson Hunter (one), troop 65, London Bridge.

Star Advancements—Wilson Hunter, Gilmer Swenson, William Robinson, Louis Philhower, William McClelland, Woodrow Fiore and Leonard Byrd, troop 68, London Bridge.

Life Advancements—Robert Imber, troop 61, Fort Story, and Wilson Hunter, troop 65, London Bridge.

The Scouts will again take up the work of collecting waste paper. Plans are being worked out through the various troops and if there is a scout in your neighborhood contact him for this collection.

Committee on Education Proposes Change in Age For Compulsory Education

Richmond—The Committee on Education of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce proposes raising the upper age limit of compulsory attendance in Virginia schools from 15 to 16 years. The Committee makes this one of its recommendations in a report just made to the Chamber's membership.

"There is a sharp increase in the rate of withdrawal from school in Virginia after the age of 15, the present age limit for compulsory attendance," the Committee says.

"This is true despite the fact that employment is not open to many young people before the age of 16. In order to improve the attendance situation it is recommended that the Virginia compulsory attendance law be changed."

The Committee proposes "limiting the legal exception that allows regularly and lawfully employed children who have completed elementary school to work although not 15 years of age." The Committee would permit only those children to work who "enroll in a part-time continuation education program."

The Committee also would require local school boards to employ "competent individuals whose work it shall be to improve school attendance."

Byrd Recommends Liquidation of Surplus Land and Real Estate

Outline of Federal Real Estate Report represented by Senator Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the joint committee on reduction of nonessential Federal expenditures:

1. The government now owns 1/5 of all the land area of the United States. This area totals $33,000,000 acres—equal in size to the combined areas of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Ohio, Alabama, Kentucky, and Indiana. Most of this land is owned by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior in use for grazing, forest reservations, and public domain.

2. The Federal government owns over 78% of Nevada, 69% of Utah, 60% of Idaho, 45% of Wyoming, 44% of Oregon, 42% of Arizona, 41% of California. Most of this land is public domain. Compared with this it owns only 25% of the District of Columbia. Until June, 1940, this land with improvements cost the United States over 5 billion dollars.

3. The War Department has acquired through purchase by condemnation, option, transfer and other means 17,308,636 acres of land in the past 2 1/2 years. The total land in use for war purposes includes an area equal to Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Vermont and one-half of Maine—some 43,181,000 acres. Part of this was previously in the public domain.

4. During the war period the War Department has purchased 13 hotels, the Navy Department 2. The War Department has leased 545 hotels at an annual rental of about 11 1/2 million dollars; the Navy Department an estimated 42 hotels at 2 1/2 million.

Rotary International Planning for Post-War Jobs

Civic clubs are ever mindful of the needs of humanity past, present and future. Rotary International has already set the wheels in motion for post-war jobs for returning service men and women and for those who will be demobilized from industry after the war.

The 5,300 Rotary clubs throughout the world are making this the No. 1 activity for 1943-44. The committee on Participation of Rotarians in the Postwar World has been carrying on intensive studies of problems which must be faced after the war, and are arranging programs to assist in developing an informed public opinion.

The new plan is called "The Work Plan," a plan for discovering and cataloging jobs for the day the war is over.

The "Work Plan" is not a cure-all. It is simply a shock-absorber for that transition period between the end of the war and the return to stable peacetime levels. It will not create new needs, but it will cause everyone to get ready to provide employment when it is most needed.

The best boost to the men in the fighting line is on the production line is to let them know that someone is looking ahead and that jobs will be ready for them when the fighting is over.

C & P OPERATOR RECEIVES AWARD

Edith B. Curles, an employee in the Virginia Beach office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, received, during November, a three-star emblem in recognition of fifteen years of service with the company, according to an announcement by W. W. Stroud, manager.

During November, 28 employees of the C. & P. Telephone Company in Virginia were awarded emblems. They had an aggregate of 516 years of service.

1943 Christmas Seal Designed by Andre Dugo

Real Christmas Spirit Depleted by Happy Childhood

The anti-Tuberculosis League of Princess Anne County relies to a great extent on the sale of Christmas Seals to carry on the much needed work. Monday, November 22, was the day on which the seals were distributed throughout the county by mail. Your purchase is purely on a voluntary basis and no other solicitation is conducted.

Each year the Association selects a seal of different design. The 1943 Seal, in the words of the artist who designed it, shows the true spirit of Christmas.

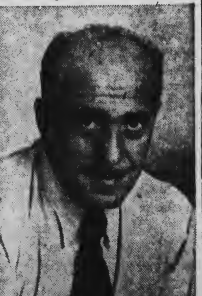

Artist of the Seal

Andre Dugo, an internationally known artist and illustrator, designed the 1943 Christmas Seal, which went on sale Monday, November 22, as the means of raising the funds to support the work of the Princess Anne County Tuberculosis Association during the coming year. The local Seal Sale is held in conjunction with the nationwide sale and will continue until Christmas.

The Seal pictures a small girl looking out a window and seeing Santa Claus driving across the sky. Mr. Dugo, in telling how the design came to him, says: "I wanted to show the spirit of Christmas and to represent at the same time the wonderful and important work of the tuberculosis associations."

"So I decided to paint a happy, healthy child in a world where it is possible for children to believe in goodness and the spirit of Christmas, in Santa Claus, in miracles and in fairness—in short, an ideal which to me, is one way of representing the aim of the tuberculosis associations to rid this country of one dread enemy of health, happiness and security.

"Since I believe so deeply in Christmas and in the idea of Santa Claus, a little girl who looks out of a window and actually sees Santa Claus in the sky is a reality to me, a reality which I strictly refuse to give up. This was the origin of this year's Christmas Seal."

Mr. Dugo was born in Smolok, Hungary, and was drawing by the time he was five. His one ambition was to be an artist, but his father steadily opposed his taking up art as a profession. So he finally entered the College of Technology in Budapest to study architecture, an excellent ground-work, he now admits, for his later career as an artist, for it gave him background and training in

Turkeys Ruffed By Virginia Beach Lions

Eighteen turkeys were given away at the annual Thanksgiving turkey raffle conducted by the Virginia Beach Lions club at their meeting Monday evening, November 22.

Reports were given as to the progress of the collection of scrap at the beach with the collection having been made in Cavalier Shores and Sea Pines, continuing toward the south end of the beach.

All Scrap Collected
This scrap collection is not limited to scrap from alone. It was decided to include tin, waste paper and any scrap usable for salvage purposes. So far the amount collected does not come up to collections of 1942, so clean out the attic and get the scrap ready for the collectors in order to keep up the record made by the Lions in previous drives.

CHRISTMAS CLUB TO DISTRIBUTE $421,000,000

According to information recently released by Herbert L. Rawlin, founder and president of Christmas Club, a corporation, starting Monday, November 29, $421,000,000 will be distributed to about seven and one-half million Christmas Club members. This amount will be distributed by 4,800 banking and savings institutions and other organizations.

To members in Virginia will be sent $123,000,000.

The total distribution is 2% ahead of last year in spite of the fact that there is a decline of 500,000 participating members.

One of 17 Agencies in National War Fund

We can't all fight but we can all give. The United War Fund gift covers all fronts in one cause and includes 17 agencies needing help.

Expressing everyday concern in a million kindly ways here on the home front is the U.S.O., one of the 17 agencies which will participate in the National War Fund Drive, which will be conducted throughout Princess Anne County December 1 to 15, with a quota of $10,000 to be raised.

This organization has now reached a total in the Western hemisphere of 2,597 clubs and operations. At the end of its first year, 1941, U.S.O. was operating about 500 clubs and centers. This tremendous increase of more than 2,000 makes it clear that U.S.O. has kept pace with the expansion of our military services and is meeting the needs of today. The total attendance in all U.S.O. operations has reached 30,000,000 visits each month. More than 700 volunteers participate in these activities.

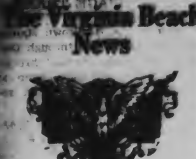

In Virginia clubs, information was given 114,000 times, 9,000 persons were given advice and counsel and sleeping accommodations were used 25,000 times. Meanwhile, 2,600 were guests in private homes under arrangements made by U.S.O. A total of 26,000 volunteers took part in the above activities.

For entertainment, camp shows, concerts, name bands and other forms of amusement are secured. U.S.O., financed through the National War Fund, needs your support—Sixteen other agencies need your support.

Give to the National War Fund when called upon.

"THE VOICE OF A MAJORITY," swaying the course of government does not mean government. It is the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people.

THANKSGIVING 1945
To many this Thanksgiving Day is just another day for work, another day turning the wheels of industry to speed production and ultimately bring about a day of lasting peace.

To many the day will bring memories with a touch of sadness and a longing for days that will never be again.

But to all, no matter where or how occupied, comes the privilege of turning to God in heart and thought. We can not all go to the house of worship and on Sunday kneel in prayer to God's goodness but some moments in the busy day we can draw apart from the world and guide our thoughts into quiet consideration of things spiritual. In a time of world crisis such as this we need faith and prayer to carry us on. There is one place to which we may turn and be assured of finding this. The Collect for Thanksgiving Day in the Book of Common Prayer speaks for all gratitude for our blessings.

O Most Merciful Father, who hast blessed the labors of the husbandman in the returns of the fruits of the earth, we give thee humble and hearty thanks for this thy bounty; beseeching thee to continue thy loving-kindness to us, that our land may still yield her increase, to thy glory and our comfort; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

LOOKING BACKWARDS AND FORWARDS
J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C., November—One day in November, 1918, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon three French soldiers lost their lives in battle on the Meuse. Within one minute the bugles sounded, "cease firing."

President Hoover and Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, who know all about World War I, have expressed their belief that the Germans will be beaten soon. Lord Halifax has more friends and admirers in Washington than any other man in the British government. He expressed the opinion that "anything may happen," implying that Germany has about reached the end of its rope. America will soon be looking backward on this terrible war, and looking forward for the right answers about rebuilding and reestablishing our ruined country.

Some day "it will all be over" and the boys and young men who saw us such a short time ago will return home. When they march past the President's reviewing stand the cheering crowds will welcome mature men—most of whom have been hardened by the war.

First they should receive "first aid" from their Government because it has been promised to them for a period long enough in which to "ret back on their own heels" and shoulder personal and family responsibilities.

Industrial leaders expect to give no further assistance to the war men and women than they supplied before the war. Besides there will be no funds to be sent. The modern system of organized labor has a way of expending through its leaders the millions of millions of members. From those sources there comes hopeful, confident predictions that re-employment will be the first goal to be won in reconstruction.

There is every reason to believe that our industrial system will be restored on its old basis, and that the American method will return, since it has succeeded in producing new inventions and ever-increasing production. It is no exaggeration to say that American science, invention, chemistry, as well as experienced, able management, made it possible to speed up war production, and that our machinery and implements of war are major factors with which the armies, navies and air forces of the Allies are driving back our enemies so fast that the bugles will sound, before long—"cease firing."

CHRISTMAS SEALS
A two-fold obligation is yours—BUY and USE the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals which were placed in circulation November 22.

This is a fine job to do but unless it is completed half the good is lost. If you bought the Seals and are not using them, you have done the first half of your job. If you have bought them and are placing them on every letter which you mail then you are completing a fine job. When others see the Seal they are reminded of an obligation and the sight of the Seal calls attention to the vital importance of the anti-tuberculosis campaign.

The association faces a critical year—war, with its overwork, strain, food shortage and overcrowded living and working conditions hastens breakdowns with tuberculosis and its spread from the sick to the well. The work must be expanded to meet the emergency.

If you are tempted to send your Seals back, think again. Buy the Seals in the envelope instead and when you have done that half of the job—carry on through the other half. This year, above all other years, the tuberculosis association can not do without you.

UNMENTIONABLE!
(Staunton Evening Leader)
Are you read with reading about taxes, strikes, war, high cost of living, delinquency, shortages, and other topics that add very little spice—but a lot of misery—to life? Want something new in this, your favorite (?) column? Well, how about a quiet little discussion based on Lady Astor's panties?

Of course we wouldn't have dared mention such an unmentionable except for the fact the very sober and sanctimonious Valentine Museum in Richmond brought up the subject when it exhibited two pairs of handkerchief-linen panties (drawers to your grandmother), white, severe, and undisturbed by any lacryfrous vintage about 1880.

Lingerie-lovers were quick to note that there was a small embroidered "Nancy" on each drawer leg. It was suspected that the "Nancy" might have been little Nancy Astor, now a member of the British House of Commons.

Mrs. Charles E. Bolling who donated the panties, said she didn't know just how one could make a definite identification in the matter. Mrs. Bolling acquired them from an old lady who died recently in a home for the aged and this old lady had been Nancy Langhorne's teacher in an era when such things were worn. That was good enough for the Museum. It says it is "attributed" the panties to Lady Astor.

That may be a perfectly acceptable verdict in the opinion of Valentine Museum... but what about the alleged one-time owner of those panties? Some blushing enterprising soul (doubtless an inquisitive news reporter) took the trouble to call Lady Nancy's office in London and put the question right up to her.

Disavowing ownership of those intimate garments now on public display in Richmond, Lady Astor commented tartly, through her secretary, "never heard such nonsense." The Lady's secretary added on her own account that pre-occupation with panties in the middle of a war was frivolous waste of time and telephones.

The question of 1880-model underwear may never be established. For that matter, the question of "who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's shower" also has never been ascertained.

NATIONAL NEWS OF NOTE

NEW LEAGUE OF NATIONS
All this discussion about the formation of a "society of nations" to preserve the peace follows the formula by which the League of Nations was organized. The League was too confining, static and too slow to carry out its purpose. A prominent editor once told this writer: "There is only one thing wrong with the League. 'And what is that?' I asked. 'It has never been tried.' Was the response. The League did not have any way to force the nations to behave. It provided an excellent arena for discussion, as your correspondent can testify from personal observation in Geneva. The trouble was that the United States and other Nations were certain that 'nothing will happen.'"

The new organization will likely start out with a new name, but it will be more than an international debating society. It will have teeth—that will bite. It will be in the position to call on the armed forces of the most powerful nations in the world to prevent and stop total wars. It should be a success!

WHY BARUCH IS "IT"
Apparently there is one man sitting in the inner circles surrounding the President whose judgment is always called for. That man is Bernard M. Baruch who has been named at the head of a new unit within the Office of War Mobilization. He will administer war and post-war adjustment problems.

When this war is over there will be about 100,000 prime contracts to settle and several times that number of sub-contracts. These contracts aggregate between 60 billion and 75 billion dollars.

Baruch won his laurels in the first World War and he knows what a billion dollars is—which is a rare intellectual and financial achievement. A good many people wonder why Baruch stands at the top in Washington and is never attacked by his enemies, if he has any, or by the enemies of the President.

It is agreed in Washington that Baruch has "both statesmanlike efficiency and broad vision." That is why he is "IT" in Washington.

THE NEW TAX BILL
Congress is doing an unexplainable job in making 2 billion dollars do while the Administration and the Secretary of the Treasury are demanding 10 1/2 billion dollars. The present bill imposes higher corporate taxes, and increases excise taxes on liquor, transportation, postage, communications, toilet preparations, furs, luggage and luxuries. It stipulates that the earned-income credit shall be eliminated.

STABILIZATION UNDER ATTACK
Perhaps the most widely discussed of all Government agencies is the Office of Price Administration, because it doesn't miss anyone who buys groceries and food with points and money. Whether the plan is right or not the indisputable fact remains it is a headache to most American families.

Congressman Howard Smith, Democrat of Virginia, is chairman of a House committee that has been making an inquiry, and a report from that committee fairly bristles with sharp criticism, winding up with a demand for "remedial action." The committee says that OPA has issued 3194 regulations, amendments and orders—many of them said to be "illegal, absurd, useless and conflicting," and which in the end set up an extrajudicial procedure that jeopardizes the country's system of civil liberties.

At the other end of Congress the Senate Agriculture Committee has started the investigation into "the whole farm industry," with the charge that the food subsidies do not work and that as a matter of fact that they are inimical and very dangerous to the American way of life.

Against all this and a heap more of criticism, the Office of Price Administration comes back at all the outpourings against it with statements that Chester Bowles, the new administrator is simplifying OPA regulations. Two Democratic Congressmen, Scanlon of Pennsylvania and McMurray of Wisconsin, have taken up the defense on behalf of the Congressional Committee for the Protection of the Consumer. This group makes the charge that the Smith Committee findings are "based upon questionable and in many instances seriously biased interpretations of the statutory and constitutional powers of the OPA."

The whole matter when reduced to its common denominator shows that Congress is trying to straighten out the muddles and confusion that cover this wartime legislation. Everyone will wish them success in their endeavors—even as you and I.

TO FEED THE STARVING
The new Council of United Nations for Relief and Rehabilitation has been figuring out details at Atlantic City, and the present estimate is that the United States will be expected to put up at least half of the 2 1/2 billions dollars that will be needed to start this work.

Ex-Governor Lehman of New York is the American-chosen leader who will be called upon to approve this legislation intended to feed hungry millions round the world.

AMERICAN REPUBLICS FIGHT MALARIA
Sixteen Latin-American republics and the United States have joined in a war against malaria, the disease which kills more human beings than die on the battlefields. The fight against malaria is the major campaign of a great inter-American health and sanitation program, undertaken on recommendation of the Rio de Janeiro conference of American Foreign Ministers to support mobilization of hemisphere defenses and resources.

SABOTAGE IN OCCUPIED CHINA
Raiders of saboteurs are active in the Japanese-occupied provinces of China, according to an American scholar, E. H. Clayton, who has lived for almost 30 years in China. Piers collapse, cars with Chinese drivers in them roll off ferries into the river, and cotton mills burn.

"Six cocoon," Mr. Clayton said, "which must be heated to kill the silkworm before it becomes a moth, are underheated, and the moths eat their way through, spoiling every cocoon. But before it is discovered, the man responsible for it has flown."

NORWAY PLANS FOR WAR CRIMINALS
In line with the recently announced Moscow agreements, the Royal Norwegian Government in London has appointed a Chief of Norwegian Police Forces to track down traitors and war criminals and bring them to justice. The church is also actively concerned with the punishment of war criminals. According to the Swedish paper Svenska Dagbladet, a document headed "The Church and the Peace of Transition," is being passed around in Norway. It says, in part: "The church regards it as very important that evil should be punished not for the sake of revenge, but because justice of God demands that it should be so..."

DUTCH ON STARCH DIET
Brown beans and potatoes are the only staple foods left for the Dutch to eat. Compared with pre-invasion figures, the cultivation of brown beans has increased more than 400 per cent, and consumption of potatoes has more than doubled. Although the cultivation of agricultural products in general has increased by 45 per cent during the war years, these products are destined mainly for "export" to the Reich.

CUBA BANS FRIDAY BEEF-EATING
Each Friday is a "day of war cooperation" in Cuba, and the distribution and consumption of beef on that day are prohibited, according to the Department of Commerce.

BOOKS TO OWN

In writing MUSIC FOR ALL OF US, Leopold Stokowski, the famous conductor of the Philadelphia and NBC orchestras, offers the layman a readable guide to the understanding and enjoyment of music.

"Music is a universal language. Music is poetry expressed in time instead of words. It may be a child's song, a soldier's march, a country dance, a simple folk melody—or it may be the highest and greatest in art music—its range of expression is without limit... Music can be all things to all men." The author pleads for a simple individual surrender to the beauties of music, pointing out that music may come to us through different channels and that how we feel about music may be entirely different from what it is. This matters not at all; what is of paramount importance is that each individual discover for himself his own natural approach to music and allow himself sincere and spontaneous reactions to it.

The book is written in simple and easily understood terms. Following the early chapters on the enjoyment of music, Mr. Stokowski discusses the various elements and phenomena that belong to music. He stresses music as a part of nature and of life, pointing out that children instinctively use music creatively in their play. He then touches briefly on such technical aspects as tone, rhythm and melody, reflection and absorption, architecture, scales, counterpoints, homophony, polyphony and antiphony, and voices and instruments.

There are interesting chapters devoted to music and the motion pictures, music and television, and the reproduction of recorded and broadcast music. Mr. Stokowski maintains that the role music will play in motion pictures is only beginning to be perceived and anticipates the time when motion pictures will be considered as a medium for music. With their own inherent dramatic qualities, motion pictures have become a most important part of our modern life. The motion picture is a most effective medium for the presentation of music. It is a medium which would study their physical and psychological influences. They are the food of the mind and soul. They can influence the minds of a nation as they do those of a crowd. They can lead to the music of the masses, and if so should music be presented, early rural may be expected.

In these days of manpower shortage, those who find they are suffering from insomnia should seek early medical advice from the family or clinic physician. Industry has learned the value of health and hygiene as a preventive measure. In many plants there is a well equipped medical department, in which workers may receive advice on problems of health.

The worker who has not had a good night of sleep cannot produce effectively, is more prone to be absent, is more in danger of becoming involved in a plant accident. The same applies to the desk worker or executive, with the natural reservation about injuries in the plant.

It is good to remember that in the matter of insomnia as in many other conditions, it is often dangerous to try self-diagnosis and self-medication. Some form the habit of taking so-called sleeping powders without continued medical advice. Remedies of that kind have their place, but usually only for the seriously or chronically ill.

PLANE PRODUCTION REACHES NEW HIGH
Production of all types of aircraft reached a new high of 8,262 planes in October, including the largest number of heavy bombers ever produced in a single month, it was announced recently.

SLEEPLESSNESS
"I can't sleep" is a common complaint. Many recognize this inability to sleep as connected with some special situation, such as excitement over some coming important event, or remorse, sorrow, or other reaction because of something that has already happened.

A healthy body and a happy state of mind naturally lead to sleep. The physically tired heavy worker, the active and healthy boy or girl have few if any insomnia problems. Men who have great responsibilities, women who are enmeshed in too many social activities are among the many who find sleeplessness a real personal problem.

Of course there are other important reasons—those due to physical discomfort and a group of causes related to mental and nervous disorders. Simple causes can be easily explained and the condition usually lasts but a few nights or occurs only occasionally.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS

"That's really a great editorial you just read to us, Judge. Where did you say it appeared?"
"In 'The Stars and Stripes'—the newspaper of the U.S. Armed Forces in Europe. Kind of gives us folks back home something to think about, doesn't it, Bill?"
"It certainly does, Judge. Particularly the last paragraph. Would you mind reading that again?"
"Glad to, Bill. It says, 'We can remember the days of prohibition, when moonshine whiskey made quick fortunes for bootleggers, crooked politicians and dishonest police officials. As a result, we claim we know what we want in the way of liquor legislation and feel those at home should wait until we return before initiating further legislation on liquor control.'"

"Out of fairness to our boys over there fighting, Judge, how could we disobey such a wish?"

Virginia Editor Celebrates Birthday

"Uncle Willie" Morgan of Northern Neck has Unique History

Waraw—Speaking of old Virginia editors, William Y. Morgan, of this town, planned a quiet celebration here on November 21, his seventy-eighth birthday.

Mr. Morgan is editor and publisher of the Northern Neck News and has been connected with the publication since the day it was founded, May 16, 1879.

Born on November 21, 1866, the history of Mr. Morgan is unlike those recounted in legend and story. His rise to success and eventual proprietorship of the News is the story of the development of the wide territory served by his publication, which boasts more than 3,000 circulation in a town of 600 population.

Mr. Morgan is known from one end of "the Northern Neck" to the other, and even today there are few festivals, weddings, dedications, unveilings, observances or prominent funerals which find him absent. In addition since the man-power shortage "Uncle Willie," as he is affectionately called, has taken off his coat and taken the type stick in hand and aided in producing the publication that has been his life's work. Visitors often find him at the type case, or busy writing copy.

Reminiscing in the offices of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce in Richmond this week, where as a member he sees that the Rappahannock River oyster gets appropriate publicity, he told of the variety of duties of a handy man about a newspaper office in the days when Old Dobbin was the only means of transportation on land and when the telephone and telegraph had not yet invaded the several counties in his area—which is to this day without a railway.

"I worked hard for the first year, without any salary at all," he said, "and won the commendation of the editor, who presented me with a check for $2.50. If it had been a thousand dollars I couldn't have been happier. In a few years I was helping the business manager, as well as the printer, getting the mail from the stage coach and working on circulation, besides doing the collecting for the paper. I told the editor, who was also publisher, circulation manager and reporter, that the money was coming in mighty slow, and he said if I wasn't satisfied to take over the job myself. 'I did it, and I've been doing it and all the other jobs I started to do ever since.' Mr. Morgan quit sending bills for his paper about fifty years ago. He says it is a much better system to get around and see all the subscribers, and while sometimes it takes two or three years, the results are always more satisfactory. He never actually duns anyone, but he says that when his subscribers see him coming they dig into their jeans and pay up.

"When they see me, they reach for their pocketbooks," he said. "We have no bad accounts. Everybody in my country has good credit and when they see my paper they know they are going to pay for it sometime and every issue is a reminder. So when I get around, the money comes right in."

Although seventy-eight years of age, Virginia's "old Virginia editor" (who is a teetotaler) continues to get around and even visits a daughter in Texas every other year. He retains his policy of covering all the news in his particular territory through the writings of many entertaining correspondents. News of the world has little place in his publication. His trips to Texas, however, are news there, and his departure is reported to Texas papers every year by the State Chamber and they never fail to record his visits.

And about retiring: "well, he says, you can't get help these days and I'm going stronger than ever before. Ask me that question again, in ten or fifteen years."

FOOD WASTED IN HOMES OF THIS COUNTY WOULD SUPPLY MANY SOLDIERS

Princess Anne County's 4,647 housewives could feed 1,376 soldiers for a year with the food wasted annually in homes of the county, an official of the county's leading food distributor estimated today.

This amazing figure is based on accurate government statistics which indicated that at least 2,634,940 pounds of food are wasted annually in Princess Anne County homes, according to Harvey A. Baum, head of A & P Tea Company's produce-buying operations.

"Food is a munition of war and every year must fight waste of it now," Baum pointed out. "Efficient food producers, processors and distributors have worked for years to reduce waste. Our company, for example, has cut waste and spoilage on perishable fruits and vegetables by 86 per cent during the past 40 years," he added.

"Now the government is trying a similar war on food waste in the home."

Kitchen efficiency, Baum suggested, should include three points: (1) Buy as nearly as possible just the required amount; (2) serve moderate helpings, and (3) use all left-overs.

Baum said that although housewives have eliminated much food waste since Pearl Harbor, over eight per cent of all food bought for home consumption is still wasted. While it is obvious that waste cannot be prevented entirely, he added, carefully planned conservation should cut the loss in half and thus 666 soldiers could be fed with the resulting savings in homes of this county.

Civilians eat about 1,514 pounds of food each year, he concluded, while the average soldier "puts away" 1,916 pounds annually.

O. P. A. ISSUES WEEKLY RE-CAP

SPRING MEAT IS ASSURED: Townpeople are assured a wider variety of rationed meat next spring by OPA, which has announced a "borrow" plan whereby meat wholesalers will be able to fill their storage freezers between now and mid-January, the peak period of meat output.

Wholesalers who have the facilities to store meat will be loaned ration points with which to "buy" supplies during the fall period of high production. This will give them a greater variety of meat for retail sale next spring than would otherwise be possible during that period of low production.

OPA has announced that the meats for which point loans will be made are veal, lamb, mutton and the lower grades of beef. It expects wholesalers to buy substantial amounts of meat under the point-loan arrangement.

SORGHUM SYRUP UNCELEBATED: Sorghum syrup, a delicacy of the sorghum cane country, is not under OPA price control except the controlled mark-ups of wholesalers and retailers. Sorghum syrup is regarded as an unprocessed farm commodity because most of it is produced at home.

FOOTWEAR RATIONING EASED: A worker whose dealer is unable to fill his order for rationed rubber footwear before the purchase certificate expires may leave the certificate with the dealer and get the footwear at a later date, OPA has announced.

Formerly, rubber footwear had to be delivered to the customer within 30 days after the purchase certificate was issued. If the footwear is ordered by mail, the postmark is considered the date on which the certificate is left with the dealer.

PLENTY OF TURKEYS: The civilian turkey supply, just starting to come on the market, will be almost as large as last year, the Department of Agriculture has announced, but this year's demand will be larger and shoppers should put in orders early.

OPA has established community prices on turkeys in most localities, the same as it has established for other kinds of poultry.

THE IRON MINES ON FARMS: Every old farm is an iron mine. The entrance to the iron mine is the barnyard gate. No shafts have to be sunk to reach the iron. The "seam" is on the surface. Into the barnyard, or close to it, old machinery has been moved and abandoned. Pile-warehouses were dropped there. Tires of wheels that collapsed on the road were rolled into the barnyard. Motor cars too nearly worthless to "trade in" for new cars have weathered and rusted there.

On American farms the government estimates there are at least 3,000,000 tons of recoverable iron and steel. In Virginia the total must run to 200,000 at the lowest, perhaps to twice that weight. Immediately, the government asks Virginia rural dwellers for 87,500 tons.

Responsibility for it has been placed primarily on the country and small-town newspapers, but that responsibility is shared by all of us because the need is imperative. Every ton of steel that is produced in the United States during the year is requisitioned already. Had we 15,000,000 additional tons, many things that now are impossible could be taken in hand. It is disservice to the nation to keep in the bondage of rust the thousands of tons of food scrap that lie on Virginia farms.

Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, Editor Richmond News Leader

NEWS OF OUR MEN... IN UNIFORM

MAJ. RUSSELL A. MCCOY: News has been received of the promotion of Russell A. McCoy from Captain to Major. Major McCoy was city engineer at Virginia Beach prior to entering the service as a lieutenant with the 111th Field Artillery, Virginia National Guard, in February, 1941. He is a graduate of VMI and at the present time is overseas. His wife, the former Miss Susan Heath, of Norfolk, now resides at Virginia Beach.

Byrd Recommends: (Continued From Page One) dollars; the Coast Guard some $9 hotels for nearly 1/2 million dollars annually. Some of these have been returned to private ownership.

The committee finds that no uniform method of acquisition, disposal, and recording of Federal real estate holdings is now extant. The 60-odd Federal establishments are all on a parity as to administrative control and responsibility, each functioning in its own separate sphere, yet none equipped to assemble and correlate the information on new land and property requirements, surplus property disposition, future utilization, and the custody of the greatly expanded Federal holdings. In other words no one knows how much land the government owns, where it is, or how much it cost. It is the studied opinion of the committee that a central office providing the necessary facilities for the acquisition, abstracting, titling, recording, and disposition of Federally owned and controlled lands is urgently needed.

Conclusions: The committee has watched with apprehension the alarming increase in land acquisitions in the last few years. While the committee recognizes that much of this acquisition has been for purposes connected with the national emergency, it nevertheless finds that excessive amounts of land have been purchased by the Government since 1938.

Consequently the committee recommends that Federal agencies contemplating Federal acquisitions curtail such plans as far as possible. Such acquisitions should be effected only after the possibility of using available Federal holdings is exhausted and after the long-range effect on State and municipalities concerned with such acquisitions has been studied.

The committee further finds that no uniform procedure for real estate valuation is now in practice. Consequently a wide disparity in appraisal values and purchase prices are possible under such a decentralized method.
